ELIDA, OHIO
VOLUME VII

Foreword

This year's theme is one of faces. Throughout the pages of the book we have attempted to portray THE FACE OF ELIDA 1966 — A brave face looking toward the future . . . a smiling face laughing the bright laughter of youth . . . a depressed face feeling the pain of defeat . . . an earnest face studying to learn, to better its world . . . a contented face resting in the assurance of a democracy . . . a serious face considering the uncertainty of tomorrow . . . a matchless face we will never forget . . .

Latin Banquet Adds Touch of Ancient Culture

Cathy Bivona admires the mural decorating the wall the Latin Banquet.

With the sounding of the trumpets Elida's Latin students entered the fifth annual Latin Banquet "a pede dextro" . . . right foot forward. The event took place May 7 in the cafeteria. After the slave auction had been completed, the traditional Roman meal, from egg to apple, was served. Between the courses Latin I students provided entertainment ranging from Roman dancing to gladiatorial combat. Highlighting the banquet was the hilarious playlet, "Rinse the Blood Off My Toga," "deftly" performed by "well-rehearsed" members of the class.

This year for the first time a mural was contributed by Barb Alexander.

Bill Campbell and Walter Betz model the latest in fashions for the dignified centurion.

Elida Represents Ohio at D.C. Festival

After many weeks of hard work and practice, the day finally came when the high-stepping Bulldog band left Elida to go to our nation's capital, Washington, D. C. to compete in the Cherry Blossom Festival.

The band left Wednesday evening, April fifteenth, and arrived at its destination late the next morning. Despite the long trip, the Bulldogs practiced their show on the day they arrived, showing their intense desire to do well in the show contest.

That night, and the days and nights to follow were very fun-filled for the Bulldogs. All the Elida marchers loaded on buses and went on tours. They saw such historic places as the Jefferson Memorial, the White House, and the Kennedy grave site.

Competition-wise, the Bulldogs fared well, even though the weather conditions on Friday kept them out of the show contest. On Saturday the Bulldogs marched down Constitution Avenue, representing their state and school well.

The bandsters left the fair city of Washington Monday evening and were back home and at school by noon on Tuesday, April twentieth.

"Biff, Bam! Zok! Pow!" "Holy epoxy, Batman! Is it a stickup?" "That poor misguided soul, doesn't he know crime doesn't pay?"

Yes, among fads in 1965-66 was watching Batman and Boy Wonder. Students also idolized the heroes of spy shows like "Get Smart" ("Would you believe Captain Kangaroo? How about Mickey Mouse?"). Fads were so far out they were in. Camp talk flavored Elida student conversations.

152 Reasons for Pride—Commencement 1965

Valedictorian Regina Riske urges classmates to study the lives of great men for developing personal ideals.

Dr. Harvey C. Hahn, of the Otterbein E.U.B. Church, Dayton, Ohio, delivered the class address.

"God Bless America" rang through the crowded gym as commencement exercises for 1965 began. Rev. Dennis Lauman led the May twentieth service in the invocation, following which Anita Price delivered her salutatory address. Entertainment was supplied by an ensemble of Senior Band members with the Senior Girls' Ensemble dramatically singing "Let There Be Peace." Outstanding senior, Regina Riske, then presented the valedictory address.

Senior class president, Larry Streets, presented the generous class gift of one thousand dollars to begin a track fund.

The highlight of the evening was the class address in which the young adults were encouraged by Dr. Harvey C. Hahn of Otterbein E.U.B. Church, Dayton, to lead a life of self-confidence and service to their community.

After the presentation of diplomas by Board of Education president Harold Metzger, Rev. Lawrence Cordrey led in the benediction.

The new alumni met their proud parents on the lawn, each feeling a new dedication to life and his community as he puts to use this education he so rightfully earned.

In Misty Moonlight 1965 Prom Theme

PROM NIGHT: "The Junior Class of Elida High School requests the pleasure of your company at the Junior-Senior Prom on Saturday, May First, 1965 at 8:00 in the New Gym."

Couples strolled down a trellis lane and onto the dance floor. Tommy Ross' Band was engaged to create the "musical atmosphere for this, the most romantic evening of the year.

Following the midnight strains of "Goodnight Sweetheart", Prom-Goers changed to casual attire in preparation for the all night festivities to come. Those present enjoyed dancing to the twanging guitars of the Charades.

The post prom breakfast capped a perfect evening "In The Misty Moonlight."

As Monica Hefner cracks up, Jim Baxter crowns her Prom Queen.

Barb Lukehart—Miss Elida Rose IV

The Queen and her court: John Lee, Roberta Downhour, Linda Bok, Craig McCaughey, Queen Barb Lukehart, Ralph Long, Debbie Sherman, Bill Rabley, Sue Kiracofe, Jerry Nolte.

When the crown was placed upon her head, Miss Barbara Lukehart became the fourth Elida Rose and the 26th annual Homecoming Queen.

October 8, 1965, was a date, like others, not soon to be forgotten: Homecoming 1965. John Drummer, emcee, kept the pre-game ceremonies running smoothly, while the band added color to the occasion with their fine performance. A win over Columbus Grove crowned the evening.

After the game everyone retired to the New Gym where they danced to the music of Tommy Ross and his Band. Queen Barbara and her court reigned over the festivities.

Singing groups like the 2+2 (ABOVE RIGHT) and the Fourmations (BELOW RIGHT) entertained the 1965 carnival crowd.

Jim Baxter performed the duties of master of ceremonies.

"Carnival-a-Go-Go" Is 1965 Carnival Theme

Royalty candidates, Faye Combs, Duane Ellis, Ruby Early, Bill Campbell, Pat Dielman, and Mike Murray stand before their class booths.

On September 25, 1965, Elida's gym became a swinging discotheque as Carnival-A-Go-Go got under way. All afternoon the crowd entertained itself at various concessions, such as a pie throw, darts and balloons, and kiddie rides. These booths were set up in the bus garage area and run by school classes and organizations.

During the evening hours, rock-and-roll groups, dancers, and singers performed in the main show of the carnival. Talented winners from the afternoon grade school show were also on hand. Jim Baxter and John Drummer emceed the respective shows.

Climaxing the evening was the crowning of the junior candidates by Student Council President, Bob Markwood.

Mr. Hal Hughes, speech and English teacher at Elida, sang folk songs for the carnival audience.

"When in the world will that judge arrive?" wonders the young exhibitor as he nervously reviews the facts in his mind. Then, as the judge arrives, he stands up and awaits the first question. A hollow feeling fills his stomach as the judge critically looks over the display. Finally, the procedure is over and the judge heads for the next exhibit. Such was the scene in the cafeteria and auditorium on March 4, 1965.

Dan Lucas had an outstanding project on dental calculus. His display eventually received a Superior Rating at the Ohio State Science Fair.

Elida's Elite

Elite among the elite! While Elida students have long regarded themselves as the elite in this area — school pride, you know — these eighteen, reaping academic, athletic, and organization honors, enjoy especial positions among the elite. Each showered glory upon Alma Mater. The Reflector Staff takes great pleasure in presenting this year's edition of the Hall of Fame.

National Merit scholars Barbara Bailey and Larry Augsburger also received State of Ohio honorable mention in the U. S. history scholarship test. Philip Whalen was ranked tenth in the State of Ohio among all students taking the District-State Scholarship test in advanced algebra. Marjorie Deane received a State honorable mention in Latin. Among all bookkeeping students, Douglas Carl placed eleventh in the State of Ohio.

Anita Price ranked highest among all Allen County students in the subject tests by placing fourth in the State in World history. Teresa Hartman and Ardath Baxter received honorable mentions in the same subject. Daniel Lucas, with a project on dental calculus, was the only area student to receive a superior rating at the Ohio State Science Fair.

In athletics William Bowers received the Golden Helmet Award given to the school's most valuable senior football squad member. David Miller was on the Lima Star's All-City Football Team. On the Lima News All-City team in football were Danny Earehart and James Baxter. Along with Steve Moor, Baxter also earned a berth on the News All-City Basketball Team.

The year was a rewarding one for many organizations. Kathleen Jerew was elected State F.B.L.A. president at the 1965 convention held in Dayton. Ronald Politt was the 1965 Northwest Area Student Council president while Nancy Chapman was elected the 1966 secretary of the same group. Michael Spring, 1965 Reflector editor, receives Hall of Fame recognition for putting out the highest rated yearbook in the area and one of the top five in Ohio.

Again, congratulations to the elite of the elite, the 1965-1966 E.H.S. Hall of Famers.

Bev Dupes Chosen Reflector Queen VII

Each year the Reflector Staff chooses a queen. Their decision is based upon school service, but charm, poise, and ability are also considered. Meeting these qualifications this year was Miss Beverly Dupes.

During her junior year, Bev worked many hours on the candy sale. She also served as chairman of the prom committee. During the following summer, she acted as temporary secretary for the class.

Bev sought more responsibility in her senior year when she became secretary to the F. T. A. for the second year and an outstanding member of the Reflector Staff.

She attracts many friends with her warm, outgoing personality. Beverly was one of the most devoted members of the class of 1966. We are proud to honor Miss Beverly Dupes with this title.

Magazine Drive Brings in $2200

LEFT: Mystery student, Janet Stirn, won a clock radio. BELOW: Top salesmen in the magazine drive were Jim Cloyd, Paul Warner, Virginia Beilharz, Bonnie Daniels, Marsha Nixon, and Karen Poole.

This year's magazine drive sponsored by the Reflector in conjunction with the Curtis Circulation Company, started very slowly. As the end of the campaign drew near, it looked as though the goal would not be reached.

In desperation the editor spoke to the students over the public address system. Members of the staff went to homerooms. They were told the problem, that unless the goal was reached it was possible that the price of the book would have to be raised.

Their response was not overpowering, but was satisfactory.

Freshman led the classes with six hundred and sixty-seven dollars followed by the juniors, sophomores, and seniors respectively.

Total sales reached the twenty-two hundred dollar mark, one-third of which went to the Reflector.

"Yes my dear it's gone!" says Grant Terry played by Bill Campbell. (Far Right) Other members of the play look on at one of its tense moments.

On the nineteenth and twentieth of November the junior class proudly presented Paul S. McCoy's suspense-filled comedy-mystery "Stranger in the Night." At times the stranger in the night was caught in the light, making the production a bit funnier than intended. The cast: Chuck Hofius, Bill Campbell, Jim Fockler, Jim Cloyd, Marsha Gordon, Donna Runyan, Kathy Hefner, Evelyn Garver, Sandy Lamb, Bev Simerly, Jane Cheney, Barb Alexander, Rhonda Sharp, Sue Clark, Barb Butschy, Jane Shrider, Alicia Ambroza, and Larry Bowers were ably directed by Mrs. Rosetta Bouvier.

Grant Terry professes his love to Sylvia Lee. Members are Bill Campbell and Barb Butschy.

Juniors Produce Off-Broadway Play

CAST MEMBERS: SEATED: Donna Runyan, Bill Campbell, Marsha Gordon. STANDING: Janet Smith, Kathy Hefner, Evelyn Garver, Sandy Lamb, Bev Simerly, Steve Douglas, Chuck Hofius, Jane Cheney, Barb Alexander, director, Mrs. Rosetta Bouvier, Jim Cloyd, Rhonda Sharp, Sue Clark, Barb Butschy, Jane Shrider, Jim Fockler, Alicia Ambroza, Larry Bowers, and Mike Evans.

Dave Wood and Mike Murray spend many hours slaving over the memorization of their lines for the play.

"Remember, I'm the principal's daughter; I have to study just as much as you do!" Barb Bailey practices her lines as Janet Newton checks with the book.

Phil Whalen, Mike Murray, and Pat Cox found practicing difficult because of the many riotous portions of the play.

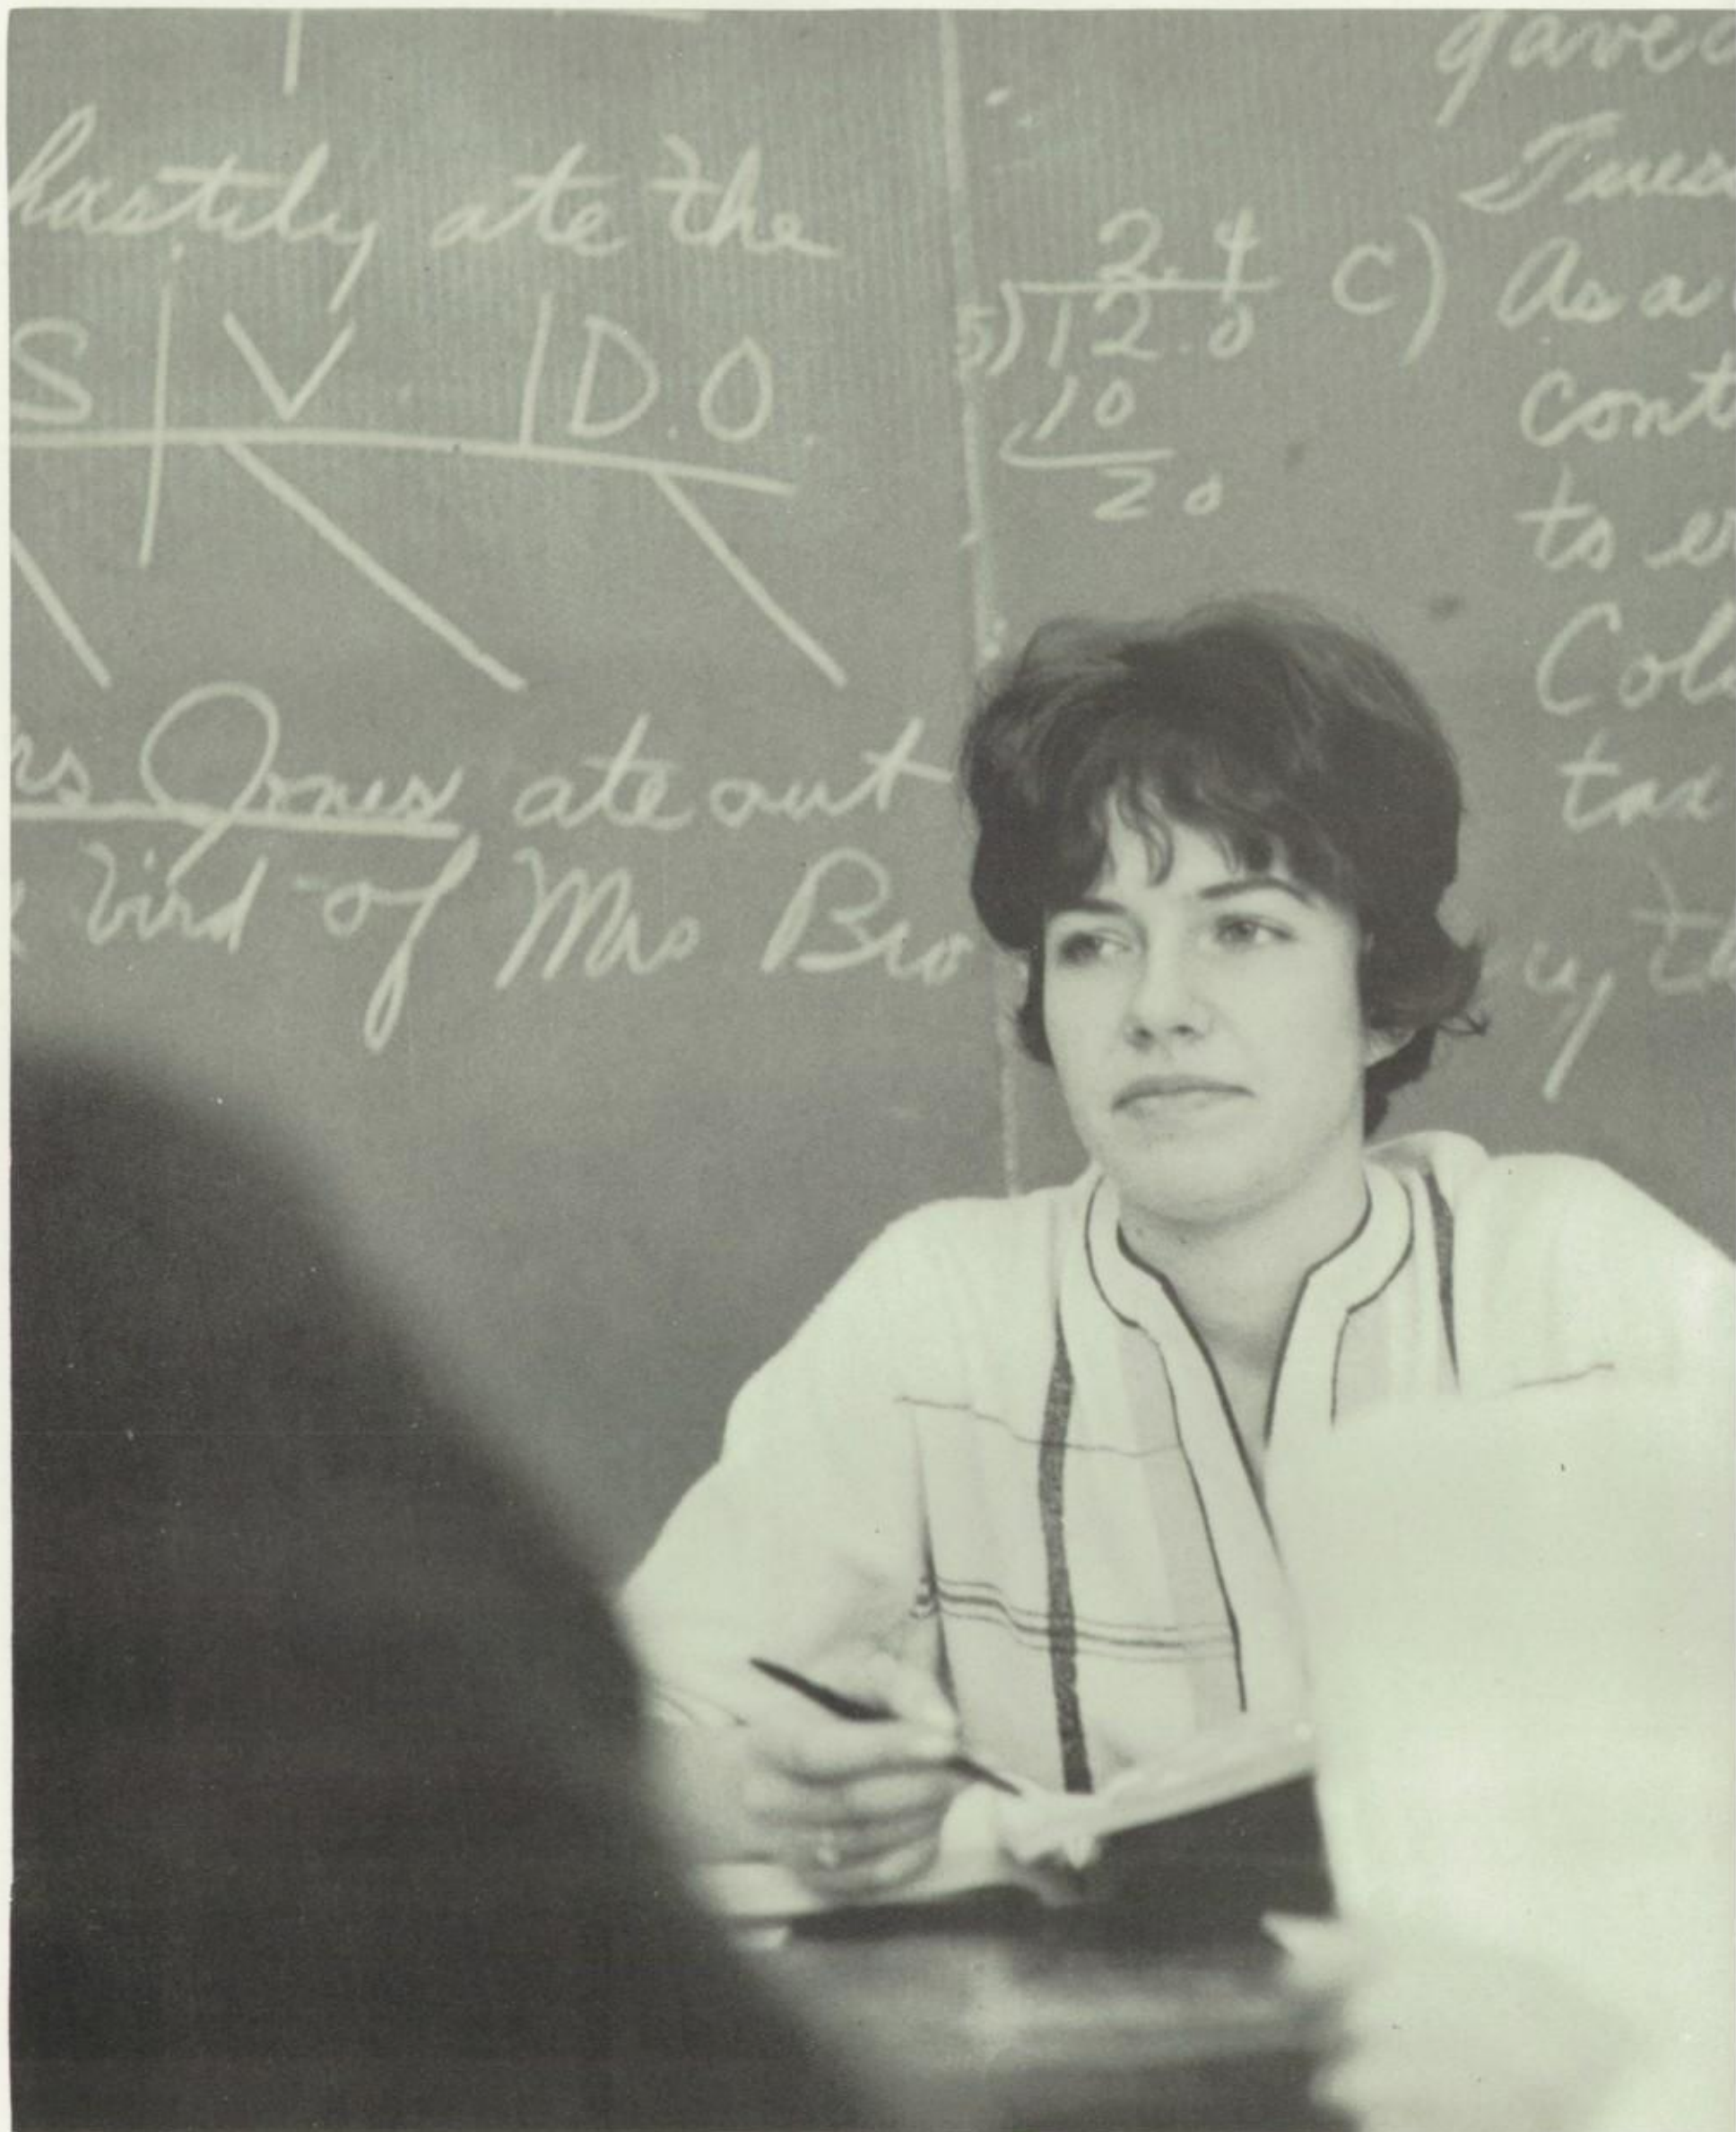

Larry Augsburger helps Mike Huffer with one of the more difficult parts of the play.

Seniors Select "The Perfect Idiot"

"He got a perfect zero on the College Entrance Exam! He's a perfect idiot!" And that idiot's name was Phil Whalen, better known as valedictorian of the class. He, boy idiot, brought up by a very intellectual set and in love with his high school principal's daughter, runs into unpredictable trouble with his hideous brain recorder. He was joined by such outstanding stars as Barbara Bailey,

Larry Augsburger, Donna Wilkins, Janet Newton, Dave Wood, Mike Huffer, Barb Lukehart, Mike Murray, Virginia Beilharz, Donna Slechter, Bob Newton, Rick Martin, Pat Cox, and Bob Houston. All worked together under the direction of Mrs. Bouvier and Karen Crisenbery to produce the biggest hit since "Stranger in the Night."

School District

Having received his A.B. degree from Bluffton College and his M.A. from Ohio State, Mr. C. Roland Swank is Elida's superintendent. In spite of the ever present demands of his job, he finds time for golfing, fishing, and photography.

BELOW: Reading occupies much of the spare time of our senior high school principal, Mr. Howard Leis. He received his B.A. degree at Ohio Northern and his M.S. in Education at Indiana University.

"Hurray! We passed another bond issue!!" This victory, though not confined to the hearts of our administration, was particularly important to these competent leaders.

The $516,000 issue was approved after much effort, especially by the encouragement on the part of the administration to students to remind their parents to "get out and vote!" This victory increased the millage by 1.52 mills. Serving on the board are new officers Roger Hyde, president; Don Kruse, vice president; H. G. Boate, clerk. The six-man board convenes with the superintendent once a month to make the all-important decisions which keep Elida functioning smoothly, progressively.

Administrative personnel met the usual day-by-day problems of high skirts and long hair, occasionally coupled with the odd problem of that "too low" hem line. All in all, our administration has done another fine job of keeping their heads despite the complex problems of coordinating the student body and faculty into another big, smooth-operating, happy family.

Mr. George Radulovich, our junior high principal, received his A.B. degree from Bluffton College and his M.A. degree from Indiana State. He enjoys his work with the junior high students and being with his family.

Secretaries Provide Helping Hand

"But Mrs. Sadders, why isn't mowing the lawn a legal excuse?" This is just one of the countless expressions yelled through the door at our high school secretary each morning. She, along with the rest of our well-qualified office staff, does a remarkable job in keeping the school operating smoothly.

From filling money orders in the general office to locating missing students, the lives of our secretarial staff are quite varied and rewarding. Not only do they assist the faculty and school board, but they are also a great help to students in scheduling.

Mrs. Jan Sadders aids the high school principal greatly in his office.

Mrs. Jean Kahler helps with the secretarial work in the general office in addition to being the school board's secretary.

The busy general office of Elida High is faithfully directed by Mrs. Marian Holtzapfel.

Becky Sellers receives top-notch direction from the dean of girls.

An avid collector of books, Mr. Don T. Crites is Elida's guidance counselor. He attended Bluffton College where he received his A.B. degree. He received his M.A. degree from Bowling Green.

Miss Beryl W. Baker, dean of girls and guidance counselor, received her B.S. degree at Ohio Northern University and her M.S. degree at Bowling Green. She also attended the University of Colorado and Kent State. Traveling and camping interest her.

Guidance Twosome Aims in Right Direction

Lois Hall learns first hand office experience by helping Mrs. Soddors.

Office work is done smoothly under direction of Mrs. Virgillia Gromen.

The most difficult job ever undertaken, that of reasoning with a senior, is performed beautifully each day by our guidance counselors. It is their job to establish test schedules in the local buildings, as well as to help secure the best college education possible for each spring graduate.

Schedule cards haunt every free moment as the two counselors work with students and faculty to see that everyone is where he should be at the right time. Most important of all is the fact that they help to aim each student in the pathway most profitable to him and his community.

No more rewarding job is ever done than that done by these, our guidance counselors.

In recent reports, Elida libraries have been shown to have more volumes per student than any other school library in the area. This is due, mainly, to the efforts of our hard-working librarian, Mrs. Cutter, who is constantly striving to improve the selection of books.

A fine addition to our library this year is the audio-visual aids department which makes it possible for teachers to have films and recordings in their classrooms.

Mrs. Nellie MacNeil busies herself as she carries out her job as junior high librarian.

The library provides a restful atmosphere in.

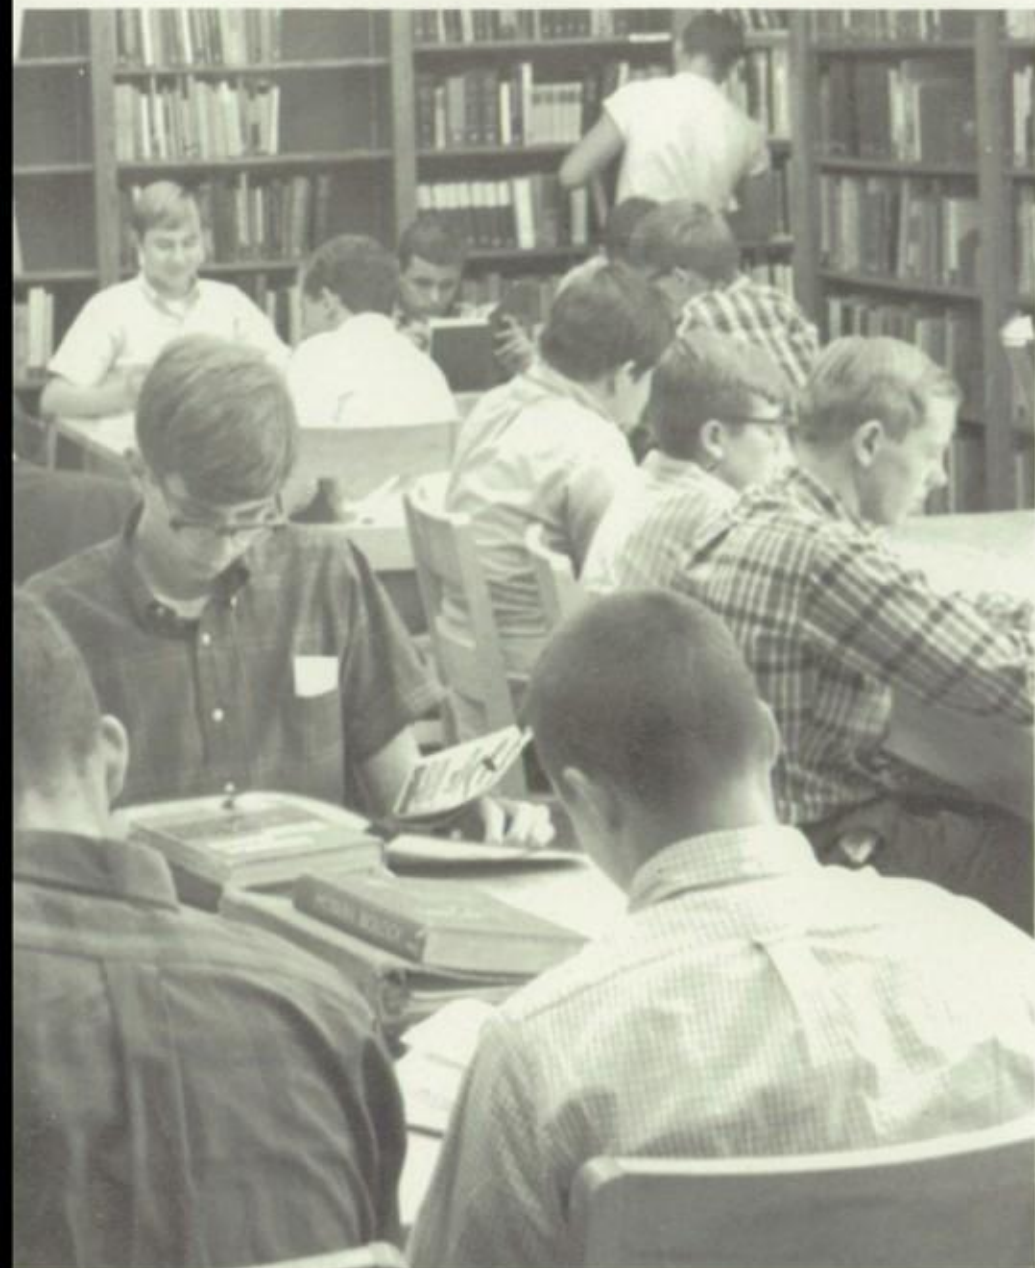

Elida Libraries Best in Area

Heading the library system at Elida is Mrs. Margaret S. Cutter who enjoys cooking, gardening, and collecting antiques. She attended Bowling Green University where she received her A.B. degree, and she holds a M.L.S. from Drexel Institute of Technology.

Mrs. Iris Bauer works in the senior high library as assistant librarian.

Reading and working crossword puzzles are chief occupants of the leisure time of our nurse, Mrs. Mary Rampe. Besides attending the University of Michigan where she got her R.N., she also attended Bowling Green State University.

which students study with no disturbance.

Nurse Checks on Eye Development

In addition to serving as assistant librarian in the senior high library, Mrs. Aileen Gordon works as the secretary of the junior high office.

Jeff Markwood knows he is in safe hands when under the care of Mrs. Rampe.

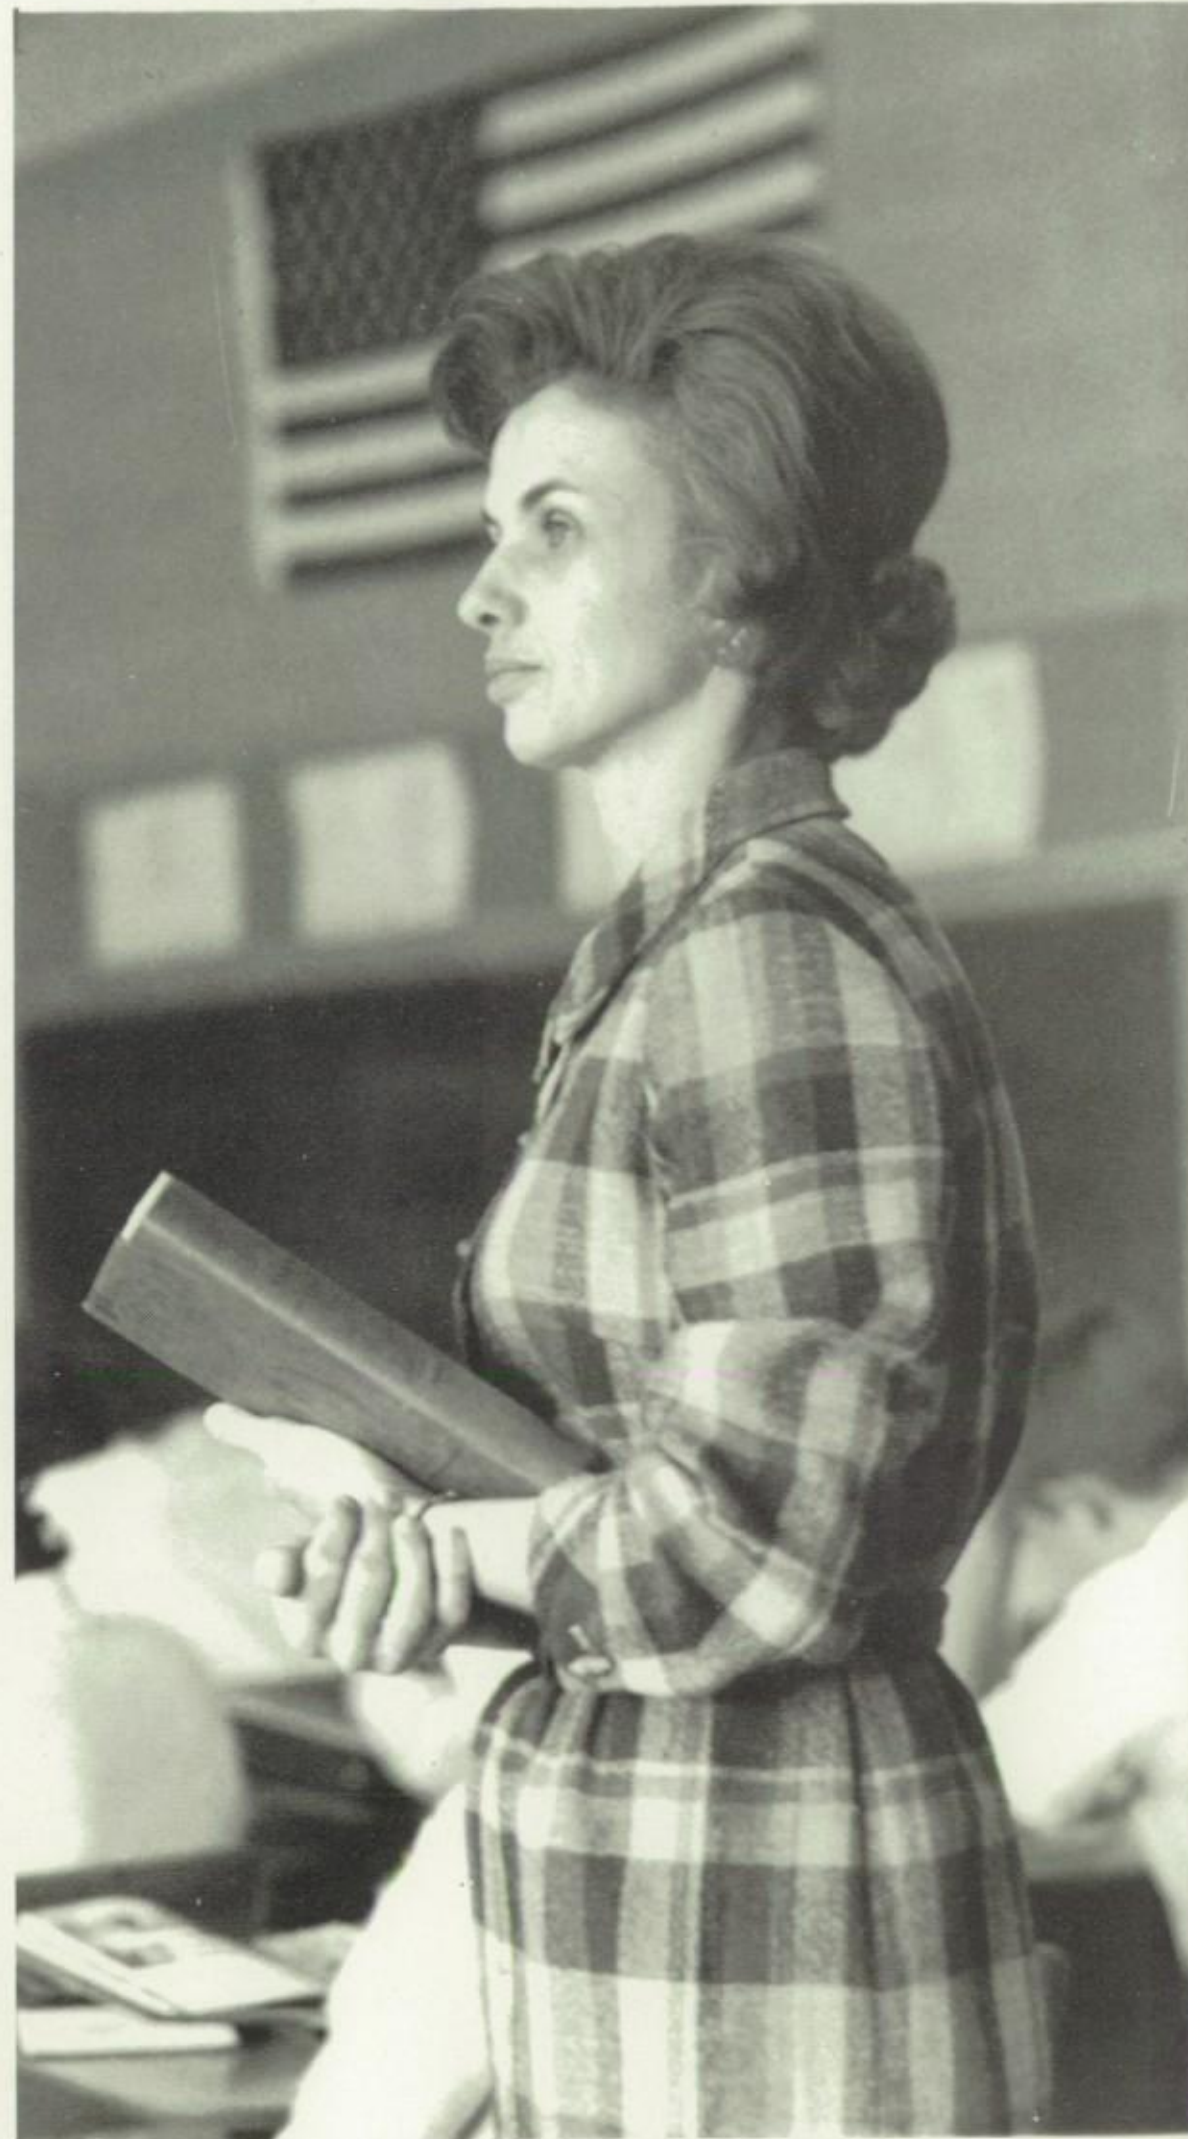

Our elementary librarian, Mrs. Mary Eversole, does a very efficient job.

In addition to teaching senior English and College English, Mrs. Eva Hinegardner, she advises the Future Teachers of America organization. Deep sea fishing, music, reading, tennis, golf, and dancing are among her many interests. She received her B.S. at Ohio Northern University and her M.S. at Indiana University and is working for a P.H.D. in English at Ohio State University.

Music, poetry, and reading are the chief interests of Mrs. Rosetta H. Bouvier. Besides teaching freshman English, she is the director of the junior and senior class plays. She received her B.S. at Evansville College in Indiana and her M.A. at Bowling Green.

Seventh and eighth grade English are taught by Mrs. Darlene McCaughey, who received her B.S. from Ohio Northern University. She spends her leisure hours by reading and golfing.

Mrs. Jayne Campbell enjoys reading, especially the works of William Shakespeare. Teaching sophomore English, she has received her A.B. degree from Bowling Green State University.

Projector Use Develops Writing Skills

Mrs. Theda F. Garrison teaches seventh and eighth grade English. She attended Ohio Northern University where she received her B.S. degree. Knitting, playing cards, and dancing occupy much of her free time.

Mrs. Carolyn Brinkley, teacher of sophomore and junior English, received her A.B. degree from Rosary College of Illinois and attended Findlay and Bluffton Universities. In her leisure time she enjoys playing the piano and watching sports car races.

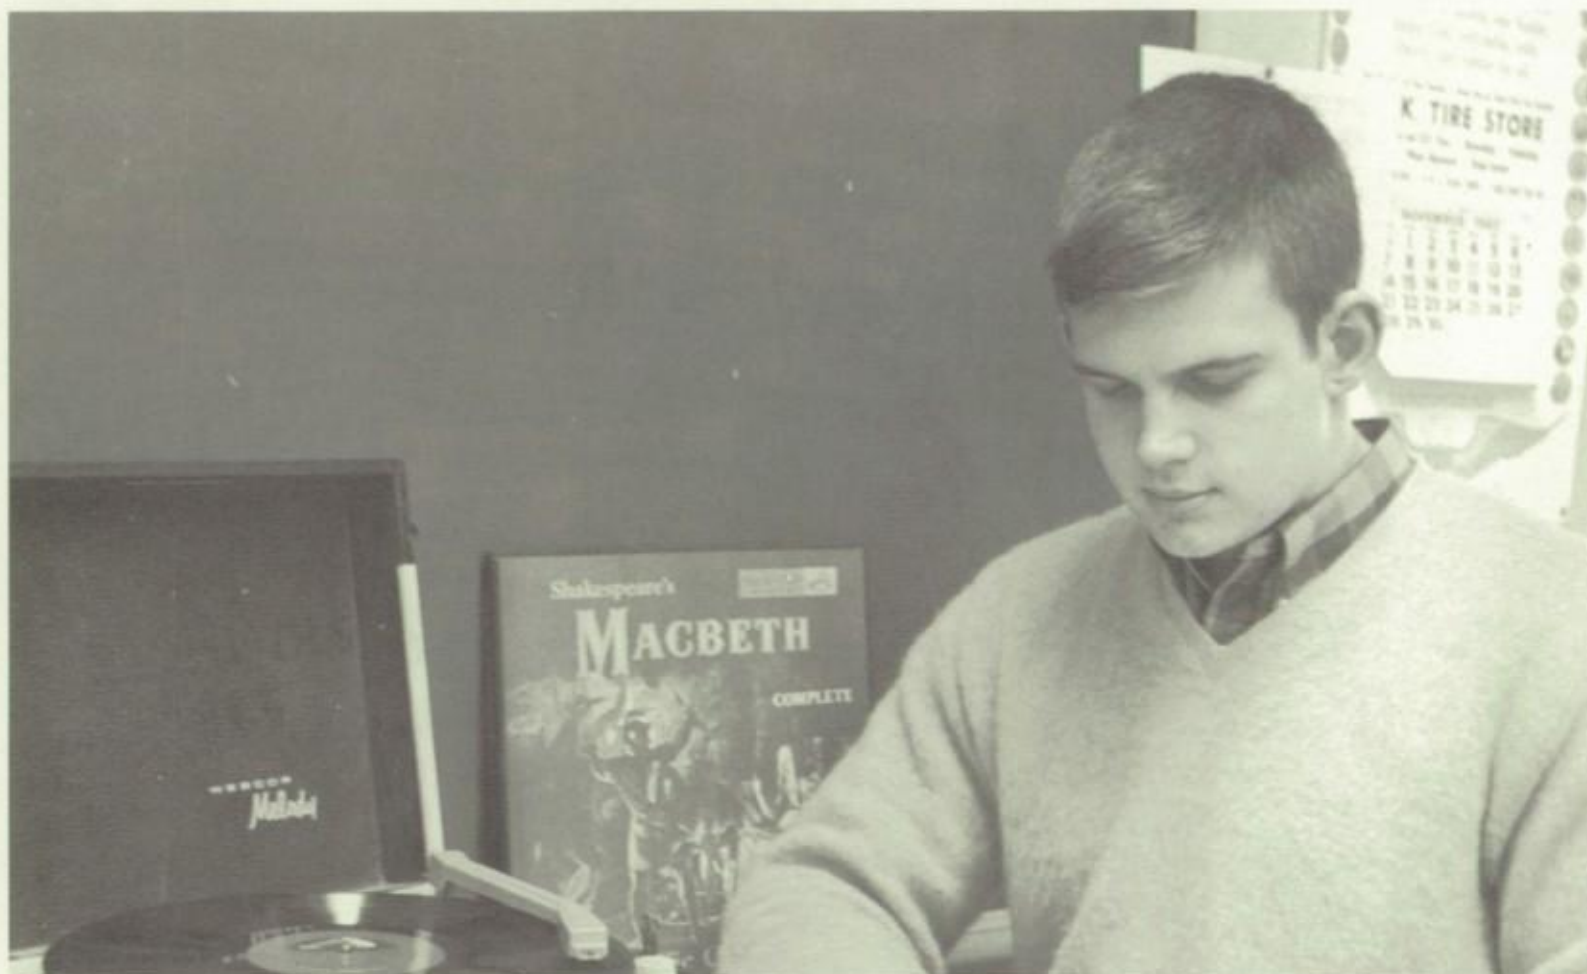

Junior English and Latin I and II are taught by Mrs. Caroline Brenneman who received her B.A. degree from Goshen College and who attended Wittenberg University. Her chief interests include reading and homemaking.

"Why can't a preposition be used at the end of that sentence?" "Who stopped by the woods on a snowy evening?" "Was Hamlet really in love with Ophelia?" "What was the trouble between Macbeth and his wife?" These are just a few of the countless expressions heard in the English department here at Elida.

These classes are second to none in teaching our citizens to better express themselves and respect the opinions of others.

From the freshman year to the college English classes, the young adults are constantly drilled over sentence structure, as well as acquainted in depth with the works of ancient and modern literature. Record players portray realistically while themes are shown on the wall via the new over-head projector. But even without many new developments in English, nothing will ever replace the good old studies of Shaw, Chaucer, and the age-old book reports.

Dick Roethlisberger concentrates as the three witches prophesy, "Hail Macbeth, king hereafter."

Language Classes Reflect Panorama of World Culture

Though few made it to Rome last summer, many of our students traveled there and other places around the globe this year via our language classes.

Spanish, Latin, and French all afford the student with a top education in just two years of studies. History, geography, and customs are studied, as well as the usual spelling, pronunciation, and phonetics. Spanish students even learn how to use the tape recorders.

Although only two years of each language are given, a student gains a knowledge which will last the rest of his life. After a student has been out of a language course for several years, he hesitantly claims that he doesn't remember a bit of it, but; despite all he has forgotten, the person has gained a better knowledge and firmer command of English.

Those students who prefer using the English language are able to improve their elocution in speech class. Through the writing and giving of speeches, students gain self-confidence and the ability to express themselves more freely and coherently.

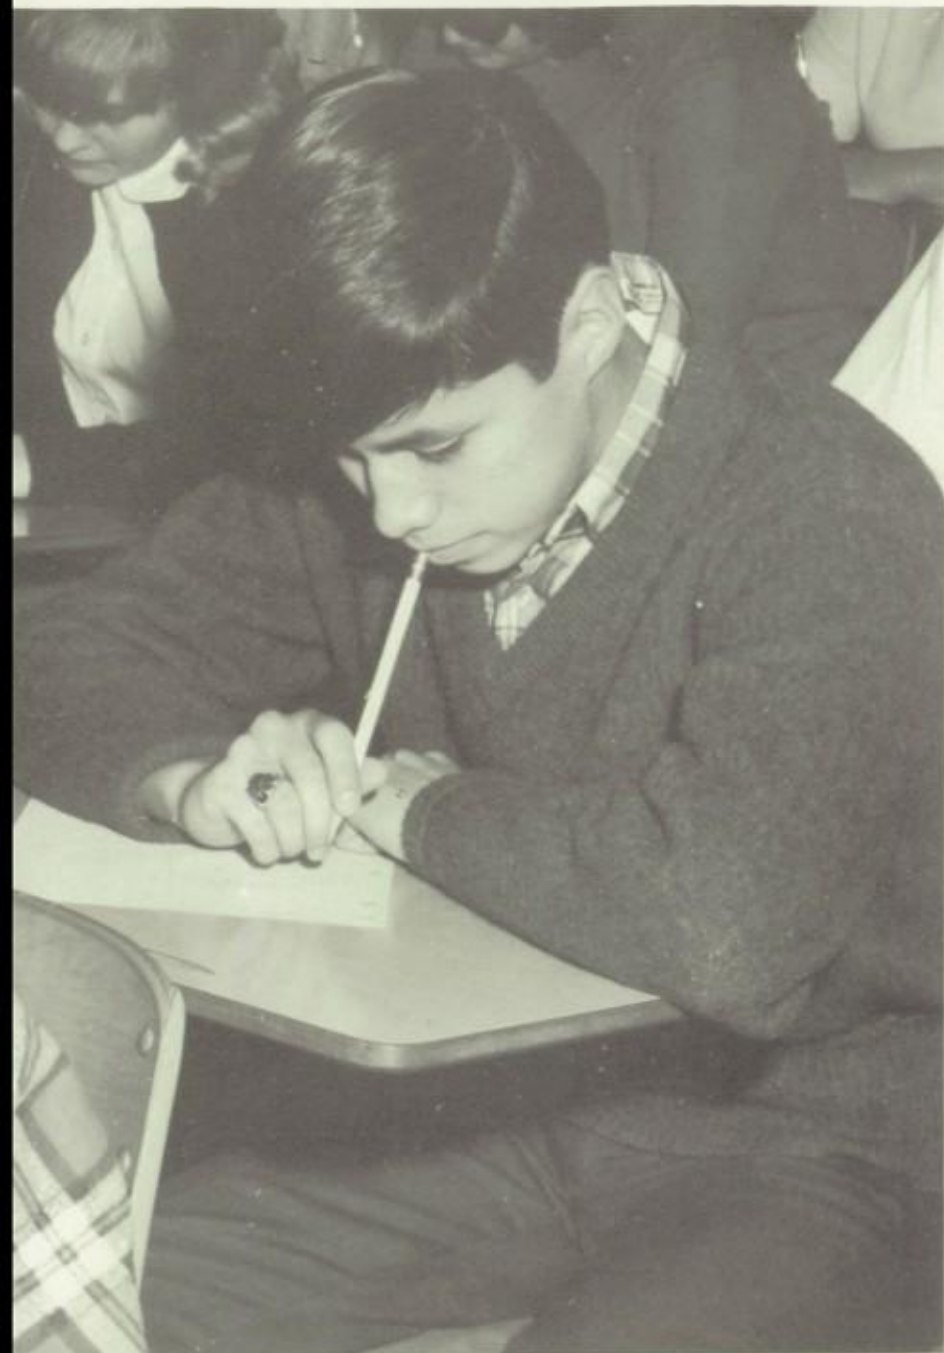

Mr. Hal M. Hughes, who teaches junior English and speech, enjoys folk music, journalism, and reading, in his leisure time. He attended Bluffton College where he received his B.A. degree.

Donna Runyan dramatically gives her point of view in speech class.

Eli Neri studies hard for the Spanish semester exams.

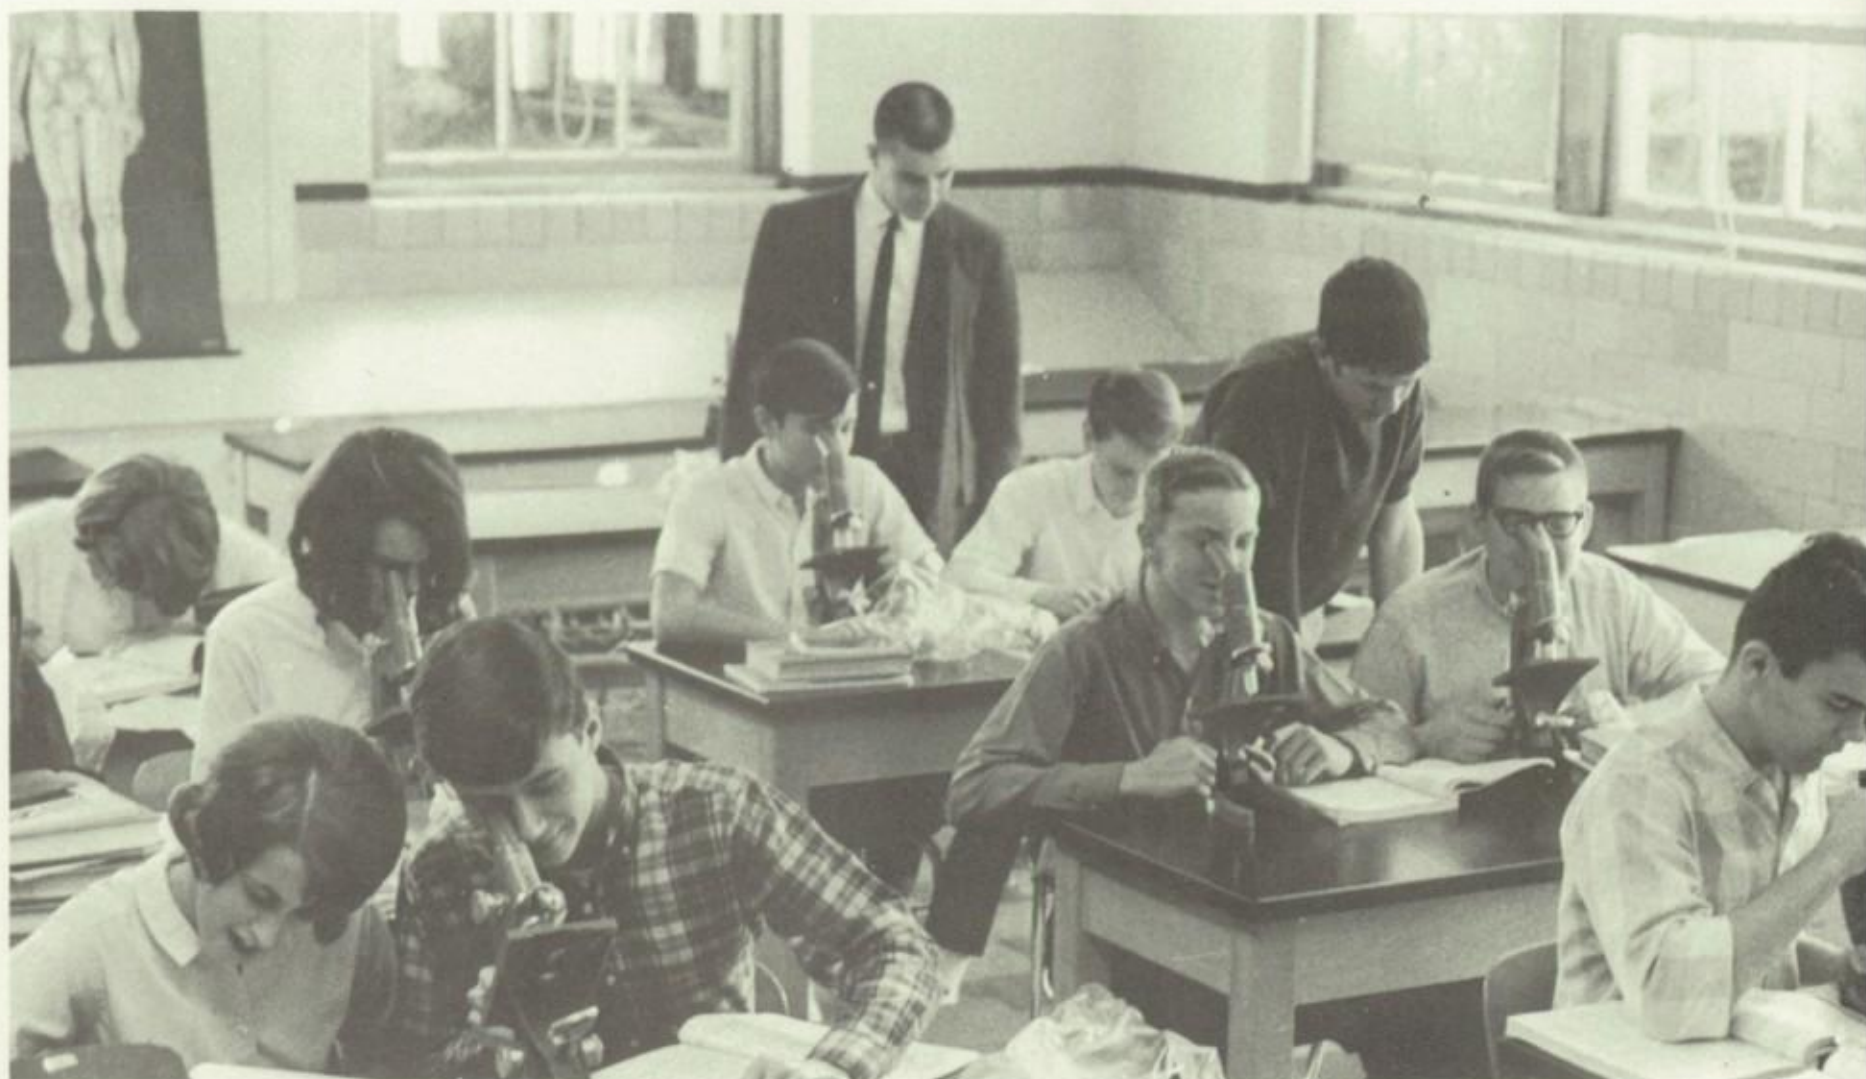

Spanish is taught by Mrs. Martha Kay who enjoys French, Portuguese, dancing, and sports car rallies. She received her B.S. from Purdue and had done graduate work at the National University of Mexico.

Mrs. Brenneman's Latin class learns the syntax of a non-changing language.

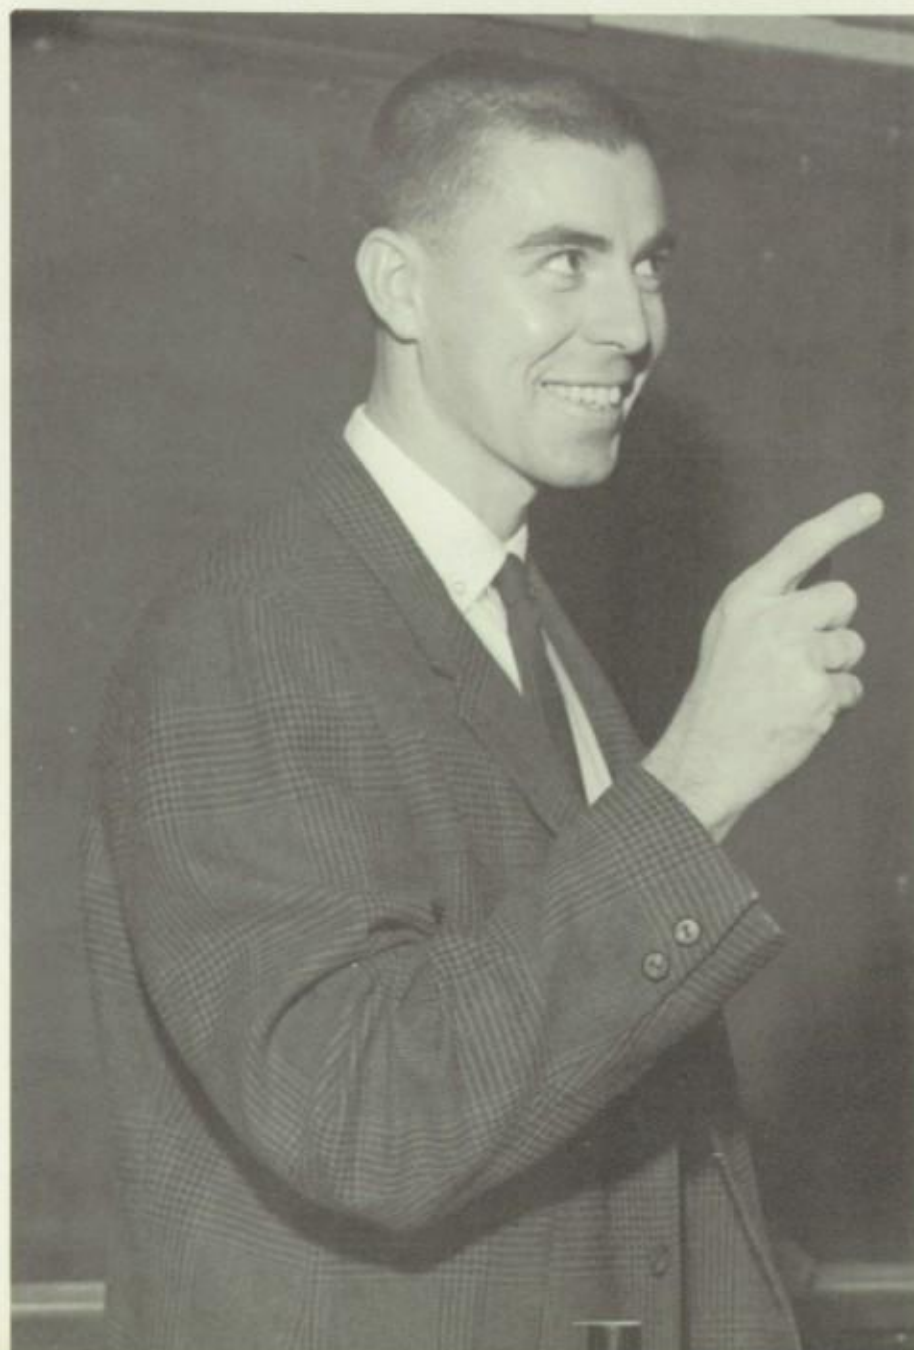

Organ playing, gardening, reading, sewing, and music are among the hobbies of Mrs. Pearl M. Cohee, teacher of French, Girls Glee, Girls' Ensemble, and fifth grade music. She received her A.B. from Ball State Teachers' College and has done graduate work at Indiana University. Her correspondence courses in French were completed at the University of Oregon.

Students in Mr. Smith's biology class study the mysteries of tiny microscopic animals.

Principles, Theories, Test Mental Processes

From the simple make-up of the frog to the complex formulae for solution in the chemistry lab, Elida science students ever strive to put it on the map. The outside world is explored in general science while the world of microorganisms is studied in biology class.

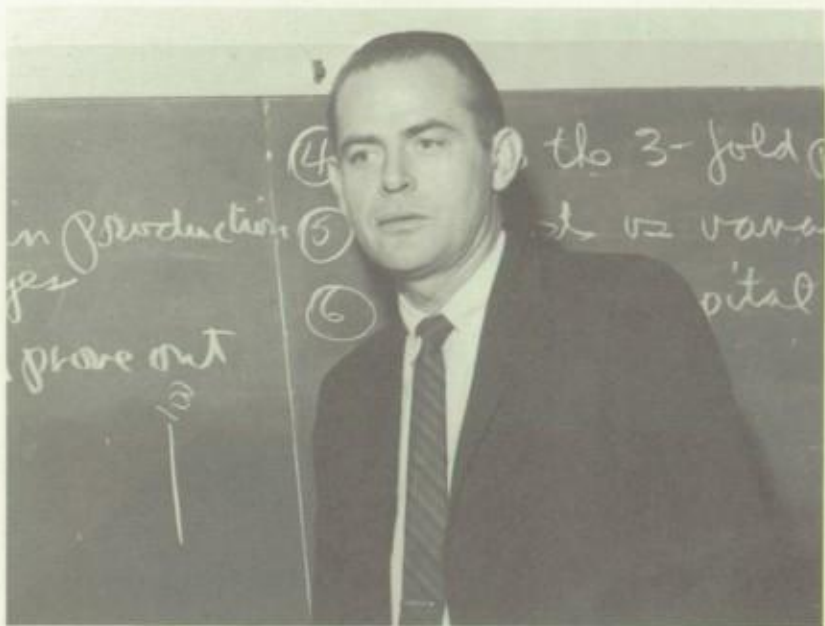

A fast change to the lab shows the student how to change matter into various forms to fit his needs. Another stop in the world of physics reveals time saved by the slide rule.

Regardless of how swiftly the world changes, Elida will continue to study the laws basic to all existence, the laws of science.

Judy Rust and Barbara Michael review the questions in their biology workbook before a test.

Mr. David Smith, biology teacher, was graduated from Miami University where he received his B.S. degree, and is now doing graduate work at Indiana University. He coaches eighth grade basketball and enjoys athletics.

In his leisure time, Mr. Charles R. Neu enjoys golf and history. Receiving his M.S. at Ohio State University, he teaches general science and economics and advises the Junior High Student Council.

John Lee and Kathy Hefner observe an organic reaction in their chemistry lab class.

Mr. Thomas G. White teaches physics and chemistry. He received his B.S. in psychology and his B.S. in education at Ohio State University. Now, he is attending Bowling Green University for his M.A. in chemistry. His many hobbies include music, reading, traveling, and camping.

Instruction in seventh grade general science and seventh and eighth grade boys' physical education are the jobs of Mr. Richard W. Prince. Hunting, fishing, and woodworking occupy much of his free time that is not spent in coaching ninth grade basketball, reserve football, and varsity baseball. He received his B.S. from Findlay College and his M.A. from Indiana University.

Golf and fishing are the hobbies of Mr. James Buffenbarger who teaches biology and freshman general science. He received his B.S. degree from Bluffton College and holds an M.S. degree in guidance and counseling.

Math Progresses with Students

Elida's many math students gain more knowledge in reasoning in Geometry than any other class offered. Seventh and eighth graders review the simple fundamentals of higher math, while first year Algebra teaches the pupil why he must do the same to both sides of the equation. These and the many other math courses offered at Elida make it one of the best departments in the area.

Ambitious students not only learn the age old methods of solution, but also receive instruction in the newest and quickest routes to the answers.

Elida's high school students, with the help of Mr. Cotterman, learn the many uses of a changing math for a changing world.

Mr. James Schafer enjoys coaching junior high football and seventh grade basketball in addition to his teaching of algebra and general math. He attended Ohio Northern University where he received his B.S. in education. Hunting, fishing, and sports in general occupy his spare time.

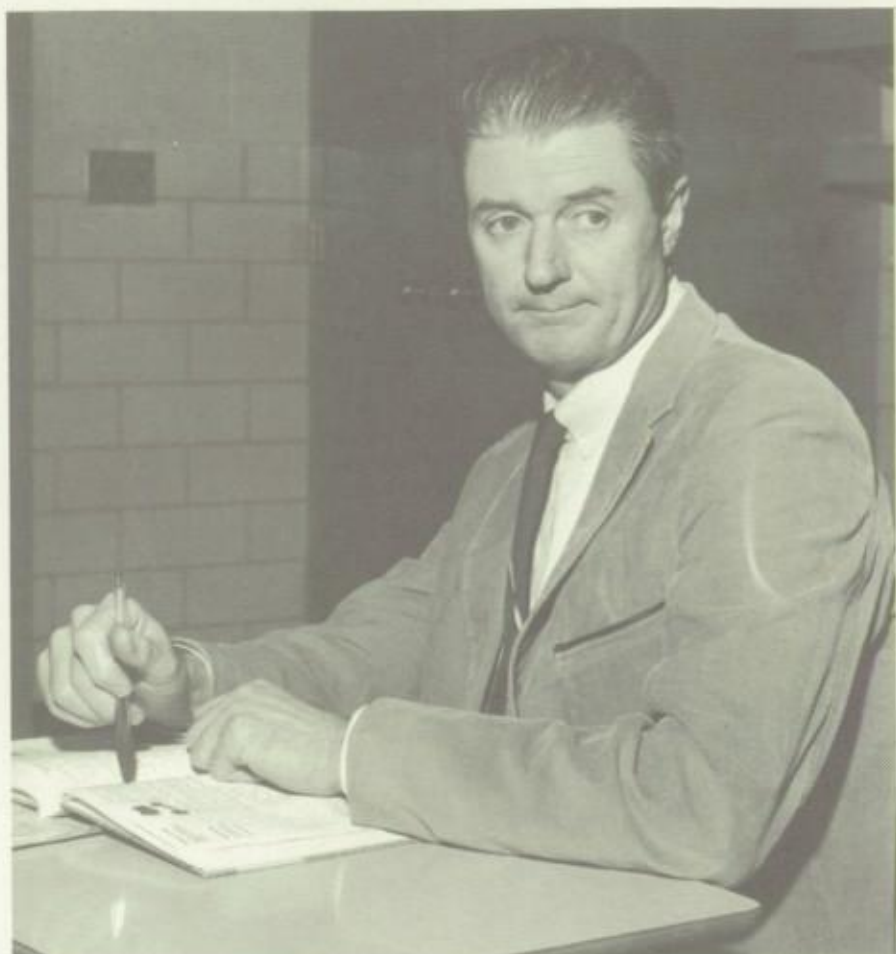

Reading, sports, and batting averages are among the chief interests of Mr. Nelson L. Ambroza, who teaches seventh and eighth grade math and Algebra I. He has his B.S. degree in education from Ohio State University.

Trigonometry students toil

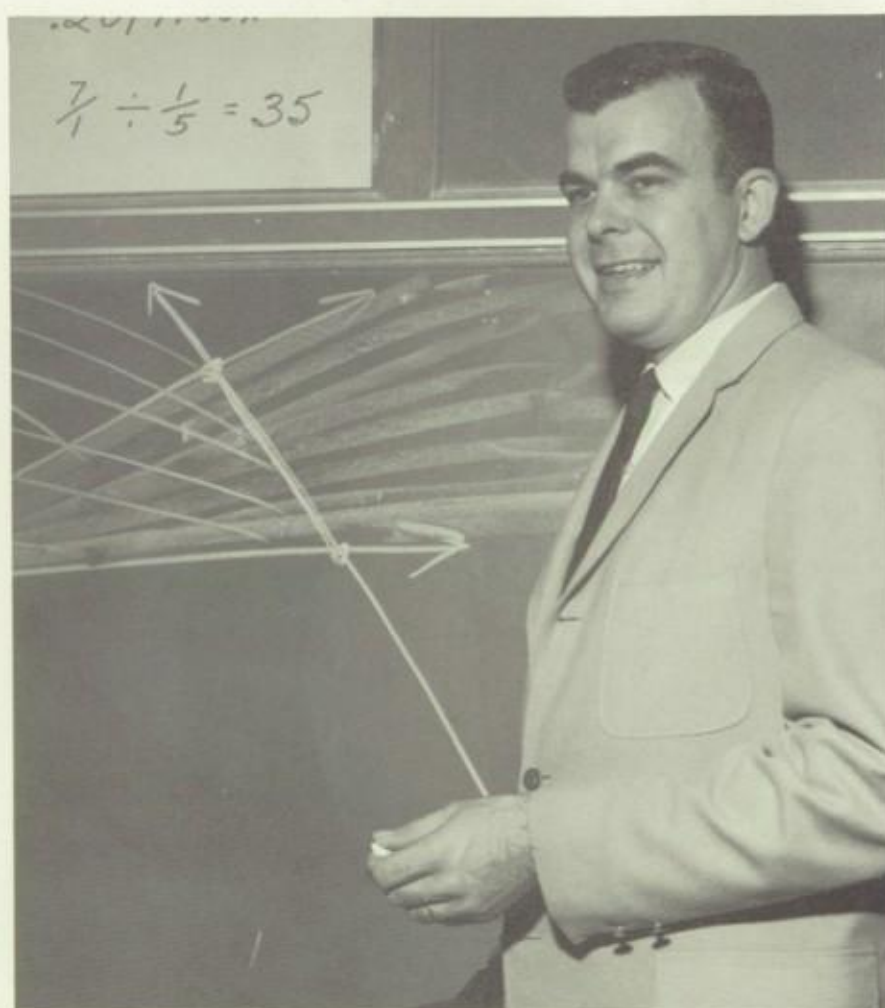

Seventh grade math and seventh and eighth grade science are taught by Mr. Donald A. Mix. He received his B.S. degree from Ohio State University and attended Defiance College. Photography is his favorite pastime.

over another of Mr. Cotterman's surprise quizzes.

"Why? Show me!" is often heard in the classroom of Mr. Charles E. Cotterman who teaches plane and solid geometry and trigonometry. He received his B.A. and M.A. from Ohio State and attended Bowling Green. His pastimes include fishing, reading, gardening, and growing old.

Trapshooting and the study and identification of birds are enjoyed by Mr. Don Leis. He teaches seventh and eighth grade math. He holds a B.S. degree from Ohio Northern University and is working for his M.S. degree in education at Indiana University.

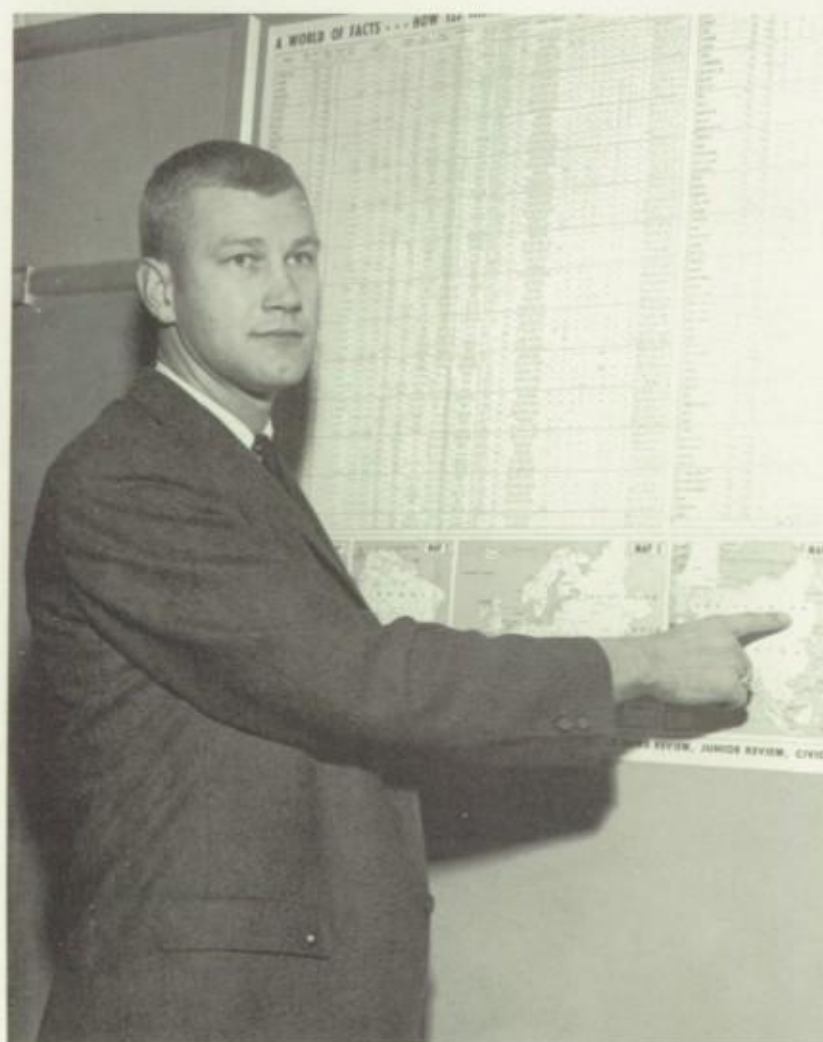

Hunting, collecting guns, and bowling are enjoyed by Mr. Larry C. Gingrich, teacher of eighth grade and junior United States history. He received his B.A. from Bluffton College and has attended Ohio Northern College of Law, and American University. He is now doing work for his M.A. at Indiana University.

Civics, Ohio history, and world geography are taught by Mr. Michael Bruin. Holder of a B.S. degree from Ohio Northern University, and a M.S. from Indiana University, he is an assistant coach of both football and basketball. Many of his free hours are spent in playing golf.

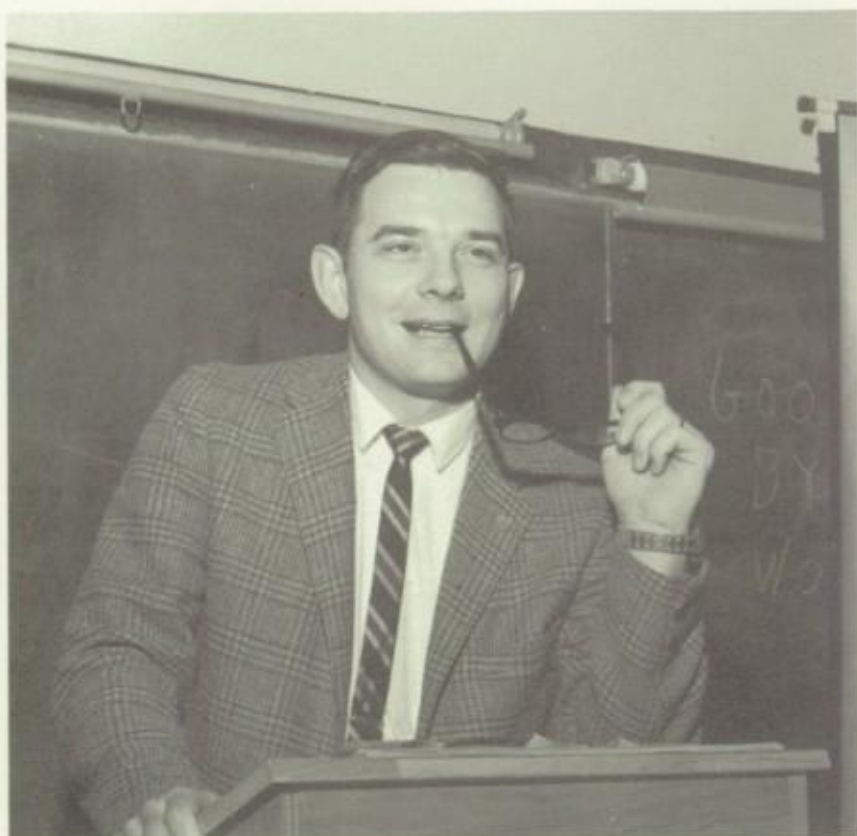

"Be specific!" is mandatory in the United States and world history classes of Mr. Paul E. Sluss. The advisor to the Senior High Student Council and the Reflector staff, he received his A.B. from Heidelberg and his M.A. from Western Reserve University. Besides reading, listening to good music, and playing canasta, he is an avid fan of the Pirates, Indians, Browns, and Royals.

Mr. Ralph L. Molder, who teaches seventh and eighth grade social studies, is assistant football coach and head track coach. He attended Bluffton College where he received his B.S. degree.

Rick Cramer eagerly awaits the P.A.D. semester exam.

Studies Prepare Seniors for Service

In addition to being advisor of the Bulldog Review, Mr. David F. Aschenbach teaches problems of American democracy and United States history. He attended Ohio University where he received his B.S. Ed., and he is attending Bowling Green, working toward his M. Ed. His pastimes include reading, music, and sports.

Typing, books, more typing, note cards, more typing . . . of such is a United States history term paper, the goal of every Elida junior.

Maps and charts of every sort add interest to our nation's past, making the class come alive with interest, variety, and a degree of informality. They're even used by the nervous student as he gives his oral report while knees shake and memory flees.

Government and Sociology give the senior a last look at life in his huge country before he steps out and formally takes his place in it. One last term paper is also completed. Economics affords the students the opportunity to combine business with government as he learns what makes America what it is. Intense studies in Labor and Management and the Consumer adds variety to the student's historical training.

History, P.A.D., civics, and Economics gives Elida a top notch Social Science department. Without these studies, and the knowledge of why we live where we do and hold to the principles we do, the graduate would be of little value.

Mr. Sluss humors his U.S. history students with their grades on a recent test.

Top Jobs Await Business Students

Mrs. Mary Lou Bush teaches Typing I and Shorthand I and II. She attended Ohio Northern University where she received her B.S. degree. Swimming, reading, and sewing occupy her spare time.

Whether one zips across a tablet with shorthand, flies down a list of calculations on a Marchant computer, or tears a typewriter up at 100 words per minute, he could never be more thankful for Elida's business department.

From general business to bookkeeping, each student learns the fundamental rules and principles behind everyday business.

Students are afforded the opportunity to work with practice sets in advanced typing and bookkeeping; these allow them to learn from first hand experience. Business concerns are visited on special occasions. No students are more qualified for first class employment following graduation than those coming from our business department.

Kay Smith ponders over worksheet in bookkeeping.

Typing I and business machines are taught by Mr. Harold Adams who received his B.S. degree from Ohio Northern University. He finds time for his hobbies of photography and automobiles while working on his M.E. degree at Indiana University.

Mr. Thomas W. Ross, the advisor of the F.B.L.A., teaches bookkeeping and Typing II. He received his B.S. degree at Ohio Northern and is working on his M.S. degree in business and administration at Ohio Northern. Sports and music are among his favorite pastimes.

Adding machine does a good job of stumping Pat Deilman.

David Covault labors under Mr. Adams speedy dictation.

Teaching general business, salesmanship, and commercial law are the jobs of Mr. A. J. Keasler. He received his B.A. degree from Ohio Northern.

Girls Prepare for "Wivelihood"

There ought to be a law against it! Poor hardworking students of the history, Latin and math departments can hardly be expected to concentrate with all of those delicious aromas emanating from the home economics room. Fresh bread, hot rolls, cookies, and cakes (non packaged of course) tantalize all third floor students. Elida girls when graduated are well prepared to compete in the modern world of homemaking.

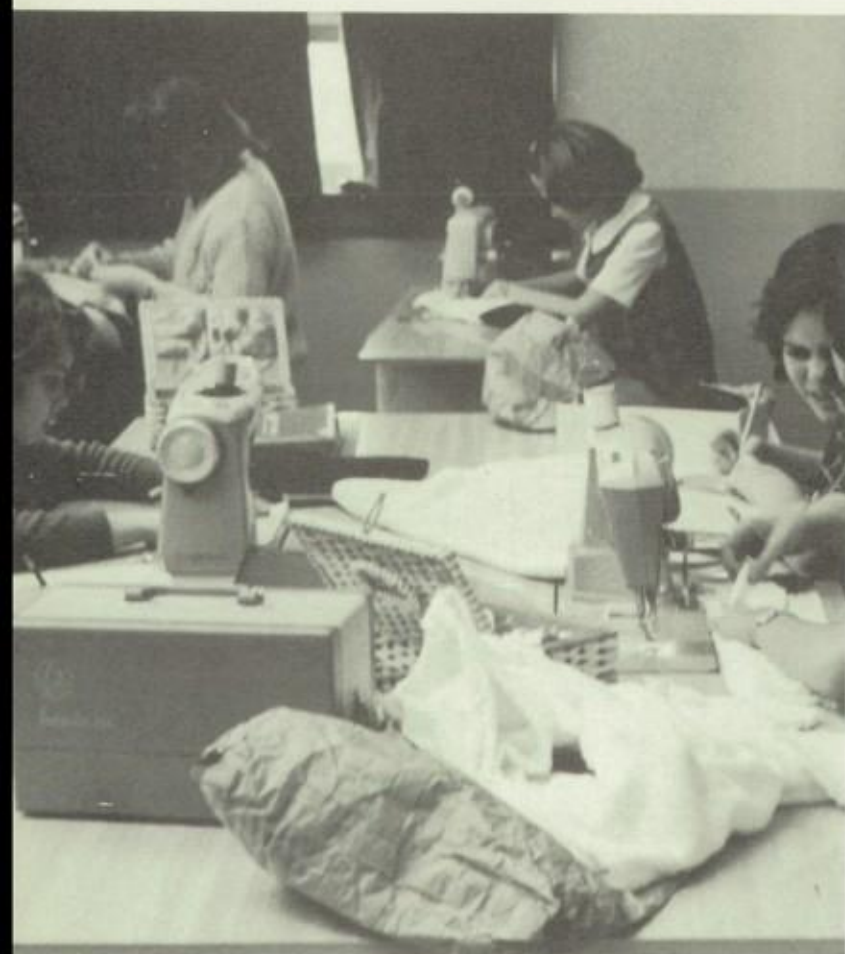

Mrs. Sue D. Clover teaches junior high home economics. She attended Bowling Green where she received her B.S. degree. She enjoys sewing, swimming, and sailing.

"O.K., Girls!" brings attentiveness in the senior high home economics classes of Mrs. Joanne Guy, advisor of the Future Homemakers of America. She holds a B.S. degree from Ohio State University and is interested in sewing, designing, and home decorating.

Eighth graders practice sewing in home economics.

Future Homemakers thoughtfully review child care.

Special Skills Taught in Vo-Ag

In order to keep pace with the changing needs of our modern society, the vo-ag class is teaching an ever-increasing number of agricultural skills. For instance, they took a field trip to a local fertilizer plant to gain insight into the latest techniques on commercial fertilization. As a special project, they rebuilt an old tractor. In addition the vo-ag class studies soil chemistry, judges livestock, and learns maintenance of farm machinery.

Vo-ag students work to rebuild a tractor.

Mr. Gerald Weaver, who teaches junior high industrial arts, enjoys all sports. He received a B.S. in Education from Ohio Northern and a M.S. from Indiana University.

Mechanical drawing and Industrial Arts II and III are taught by Mr. George R. Greenway, who advises the golf team. Having received his B.S. from Ohio Northern and his M.S. from Stout State University, he finds time for fishing, golf, carpenter work, and photography.

Flying a private airplane is the favorite pastime of Mr. George Ropp, the advisor for the Future Farmers of America. The holder of a B.S. from Ohio State University, he is working toward his M.A. in agriculture education. He teaches vocational agriculture to boys in ninth through twelfth grades.

Art Brightens School Life

"He may be no da Vinci but he's got talent!" This is the ever-encouraging spirit of our elementary art teacher, Mrs. Ley. From applying make up for class plays to offering encouragement to the young child and his newly created mess, she adds much to the department while the students are still young.

High school classes offer to those interested in some special field in art the opportunity to develop their talent. The department also helps to brighten the halls, rooms and cafeteria with the creations of its aspiring artists.

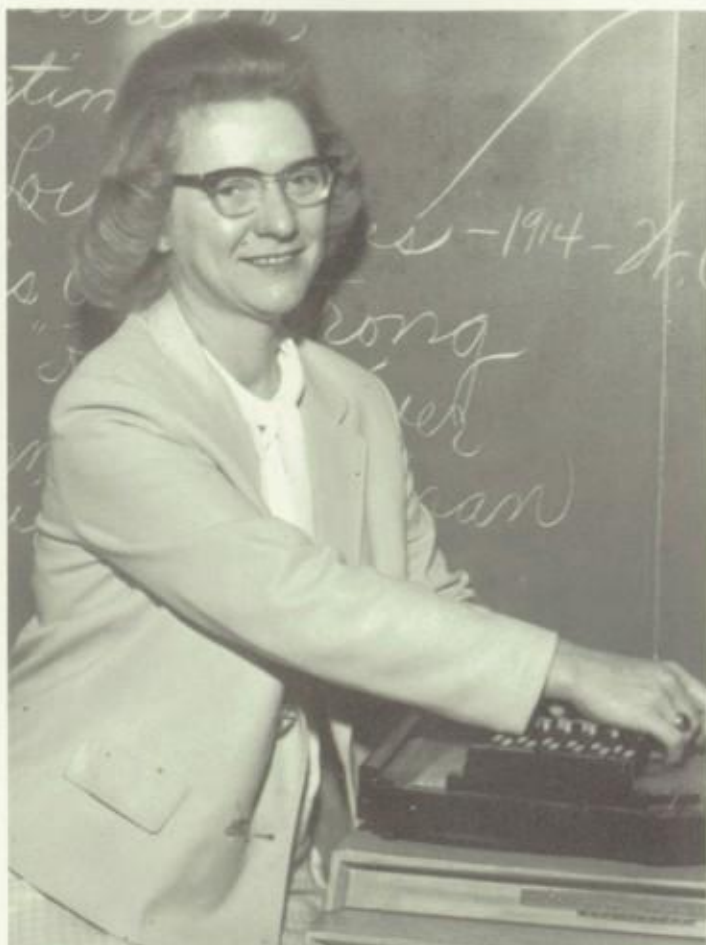

Elementary art is taught by Miss Margaret Ley.

Painting, ceramics, and map reading interest Mr. Emil R. White. Receiving his B.S. at Ohio State University, he teaches junior and senior high art.

Instructor helps students as Bullwinkle looks on.

Mr. Paul Krouskop is the director of mixed chorus and elementary and junior high bands. At Bluffton College he received his B.S. in Ed. He is working towards his master's at Vandercook University of Chicago. Spare time is spent in painting and photography.

Mrs. Betty Gilmore received her B.S. degrees from the college of Mt. St. Joseph. She teaches junior high music and is interested in fishing, art, and flowers.

Music Department Produces Fine Programs

Reading and swimming are hobbies of Mrs. Jeanette Askins, teacher of elementary music. She received her B.S. degree in Education at Bowling Green State University.

Boys' Glee, senior concert and marching bands are directed by Mr. Eugene C. Wollenhaupt. He received his B.S. degree from Bluffton College and he is presently working on his M.S. at Indiana University. He has attended the University of Michigan and the Christian Choral School. Bowling and auto mechanics occupy much of his free time.

Flutophones may not represent real talent, but they're a start toward mastery of a beautiful instrument.

Elida's music department continues to grow, starting with the very young and their crude sounding melodies and continuing to the vocal and instrumental departments where improved talent is displayed.

The beautiful tradition of a Christmas program continues to reign at the close of each year, while the spring concert adds its light note of fantasy and joy.

Student, Annette Armstrong, accompanies a music class with her skill as a pianist.

"The brake is on the left, Marcia!", pleads Mr. Gerald Weaver, drivers' training instructor.

Safety Main Goal of Classes

The best drivers in the world come from Elida's driver education classes, or so think the instructors. Students are instructed in the State Highway Department laws while some of the girls try to grasp the make-up of "what's under the hood."

Films add variety to the classes; posters demonstrate artistic ability and a real safety conscience attitude on behalf of the students.

From the road manual to their turn at the wheel of the new Ford, each student learns the real value of proper operation and attitude behind the wheel. Much practical knowledge may be gained in drivers education.

"Use your head!" is repeated constantly to the students of Mr. Richard W. Baldwin, teacher of drivers education and boys' health. Being head basketball coach, his main interest is sports. He received his B.E. from University of Toledo and his M.E. from Bowling Green State University.

Alix Foust grimaces at the thought of learning all the parts of the engine.

Body and Spirit Improvements

"Don't worry fellows, you can always win in a toothpaste contest!"

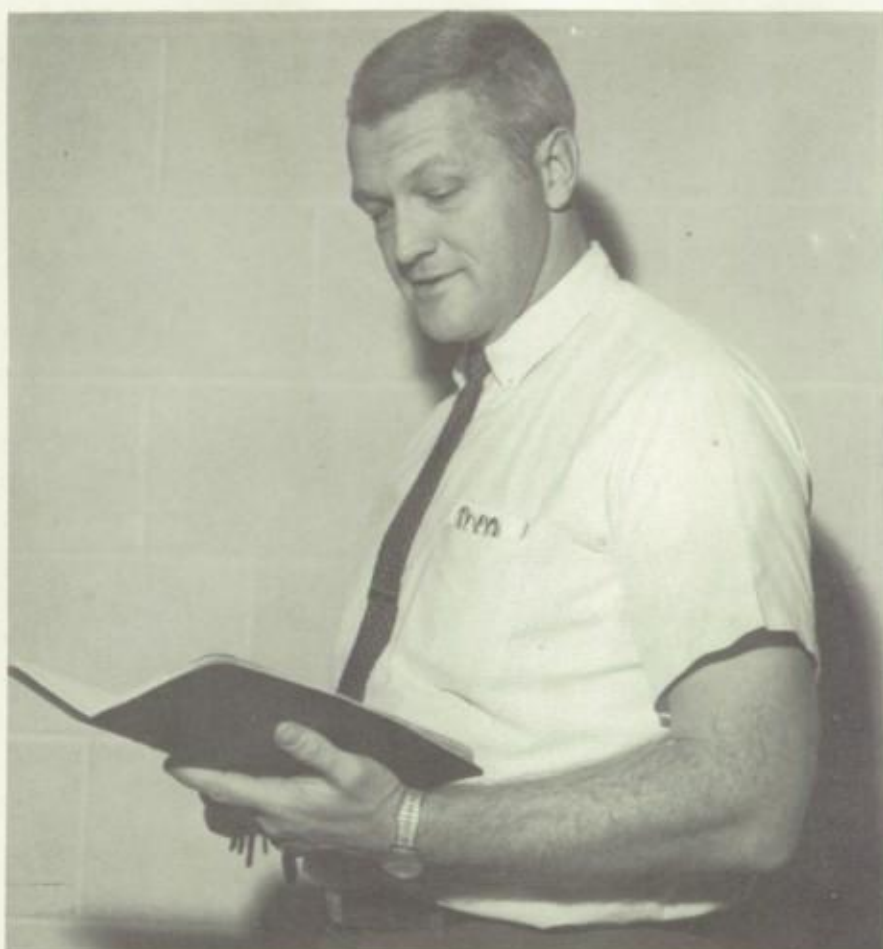

Health and girls' physical education are taught by Miss Dorothy Edwards, who advises Senior High G.A.A., Block E, and varsity and reserve cheerleaders. She attended Findlay College where she received her B.S. degree and Bowling Green State University where she received her M. Ed.

Darlene Brady connects for two points in girls' gym class.

Team work and cooperation are stressed in both the girls' and the boys' gym classes. Not only do the students build muscles and strengthen the over-all body through rugged calisthenics and warm-up exercises, but they really enjoy that fast game of basketball following.

Students are instructed in proper rules of fair play and methods of body building, as well as the many aspects of personal hygiene and first-aid the health classes have to offer.

Besides being the head football coach, Mr. Art Schreiber teaches general science, boys' health, and physical education, and advises Varsity E Club. From Ohio State University he received his M.A. in physical education.

Cafeteria Staff Rushes Students Through

A trustworthy position is held by Mrs. Francis Hall who handles all the lunch money each noon.

Elementary school cooks, Betty Shroufe, Ruby Morris, Edna Weber, Martha Morris, and Betty Arnold prepare the salt and pepper shakers for another day.

One of the most burdensome tasks around a high school is that of planning and preparing lunches for the entire student body and faculty. Few could do a better job than the cooks and cafeteria help here at Elida.

Under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Koch, meals are planned well in advance and the work continues to go smoothly except for that rare platter of cookies or bowl of jello that hits the floor.

From primary lunch preparations to end-of-day clean-up, from washing the dishes to preparing coffee for the faculty, from serving potatoes by the hundred to collecting change from a speedy line, the task is completely done and done well.

Neva Wilkins, Juanita Burt, Mildred Zerkel, and Ruby Long enjoy lunch preparations.

Scott Matthews and Kevin Mauch eagerly open cartons and begin chuggaluging their milk.

In Half Hour

Richard Saul finishes his lunch before rushing off for another afternoon of classes.

Madalin Heatwole, Marie Sevitz, Avonelle Palmer, and Velma Augsburg grind cheese in preparation for a macaroni dinner.

Isabelle Houston, Wanetta Reese, Isabelle Krouse, and Shirley Kirk prepare to serve several hundred students.

Dorothy Koch, head cook, goes over the day's menu with Mrs. Moore.

New Lockers Installed Throughout Senior High

Though Elida's students are ever changing, the building remains basically the same, ever in need of cleaning. Our fine staff which cares for such needs is headed by Floyd Morris. The combined efforts of all of the custodians in both schools make Elida a clean, healthy place in which to study and learn.

New lockers as well as new hall lights were installed since the beginning of this school year. The janitors have helped greatly in the improvement of our school these past few months.

Lemar Foust enjoys his work as head custodian of the new building.

Mr. Floyd Morris heads the efficient custodial staff in the high school.

Mrs. Bernadine Good is kept busy with her work as the only janitress.

Mr. Wilbur Wells, Bus Mechanic, carefully repairs engine trouble. Nat Huff, assistant, watches.

Lloyd Blaine, Joe Bilimek, Menno Goad, and Don Messinger compose the high school custodian staff.

Janitors receive little rest throughout locker installation.

Elida Scholars Top All Area Schools in

Barbara Bailey and Bob Markwood aid each other in preparing for forthcoming exams.

Academic achievement receives no higher recognition than that which it receives from membership in Scholarship E. Sponsored by the Student Council, it functions much like the recognition given athletic achievement by Varsity E.

To earn the coveted E, the student must earn 25 points. From three to five points are obtained in "making the honor roll". Students who are eligible for subject scholarship tests gain five points, and ten points are awarded for district or state ranking in scholarship returns. Senior members of Ethan Allen Honor Society receive eight points for membership.

Every March the top twenty-five per cent of students in each subject are given the Preliminary District-State Scholarship Tests. Then, the three who rank highest in each subject area journey to Ohio Northern University at Ada to compete in the Final District State Scholarship Tests. Any who rank in district or state receive awards at the awards assembly in May, along with the knowledge and experience received enroute to Ada.

Form and Perfection

Many effective and entertaining programs have been presented by Elida's marching band. Original and attractive patterns displayed throughout the year can be attributed to the creative talent of their instructor, Mr. Wollenhaupt.

The group participates in a summer activity where they practice new and varied routines for the coming year.

Last spring the band was especially honored by their invitation to march in the Washington Cherry Blossom Festival. They have also received exceptionally high ratings both locally and statewide for their fine musical abilities.

Trumpets and Flugel Horns: Mike Flick, Kay Gaskey, Sharon Early, Cathy Bivona, Pam Blaine, Eric Carlson.

Girls' Glee Ranks High in State

Girls find Glee Club quite a rewarding experience. Twice a week they rehearse various numbers. Mrs. Cohee, their director, enters the girls in the district and state contests where they have received high ratings, ranking them among the top in the state. This gifted group has provided excellent entertainment on special occasions.

Girls' Ensemble, comprised of junior and senior girls, forms a select group. Each spring the ensemble participates in state contests, where they have always been awarded the superior rating. Their fine choral ability is displayed at the request of various audiences throughout the community.

Music Interests Younger Students

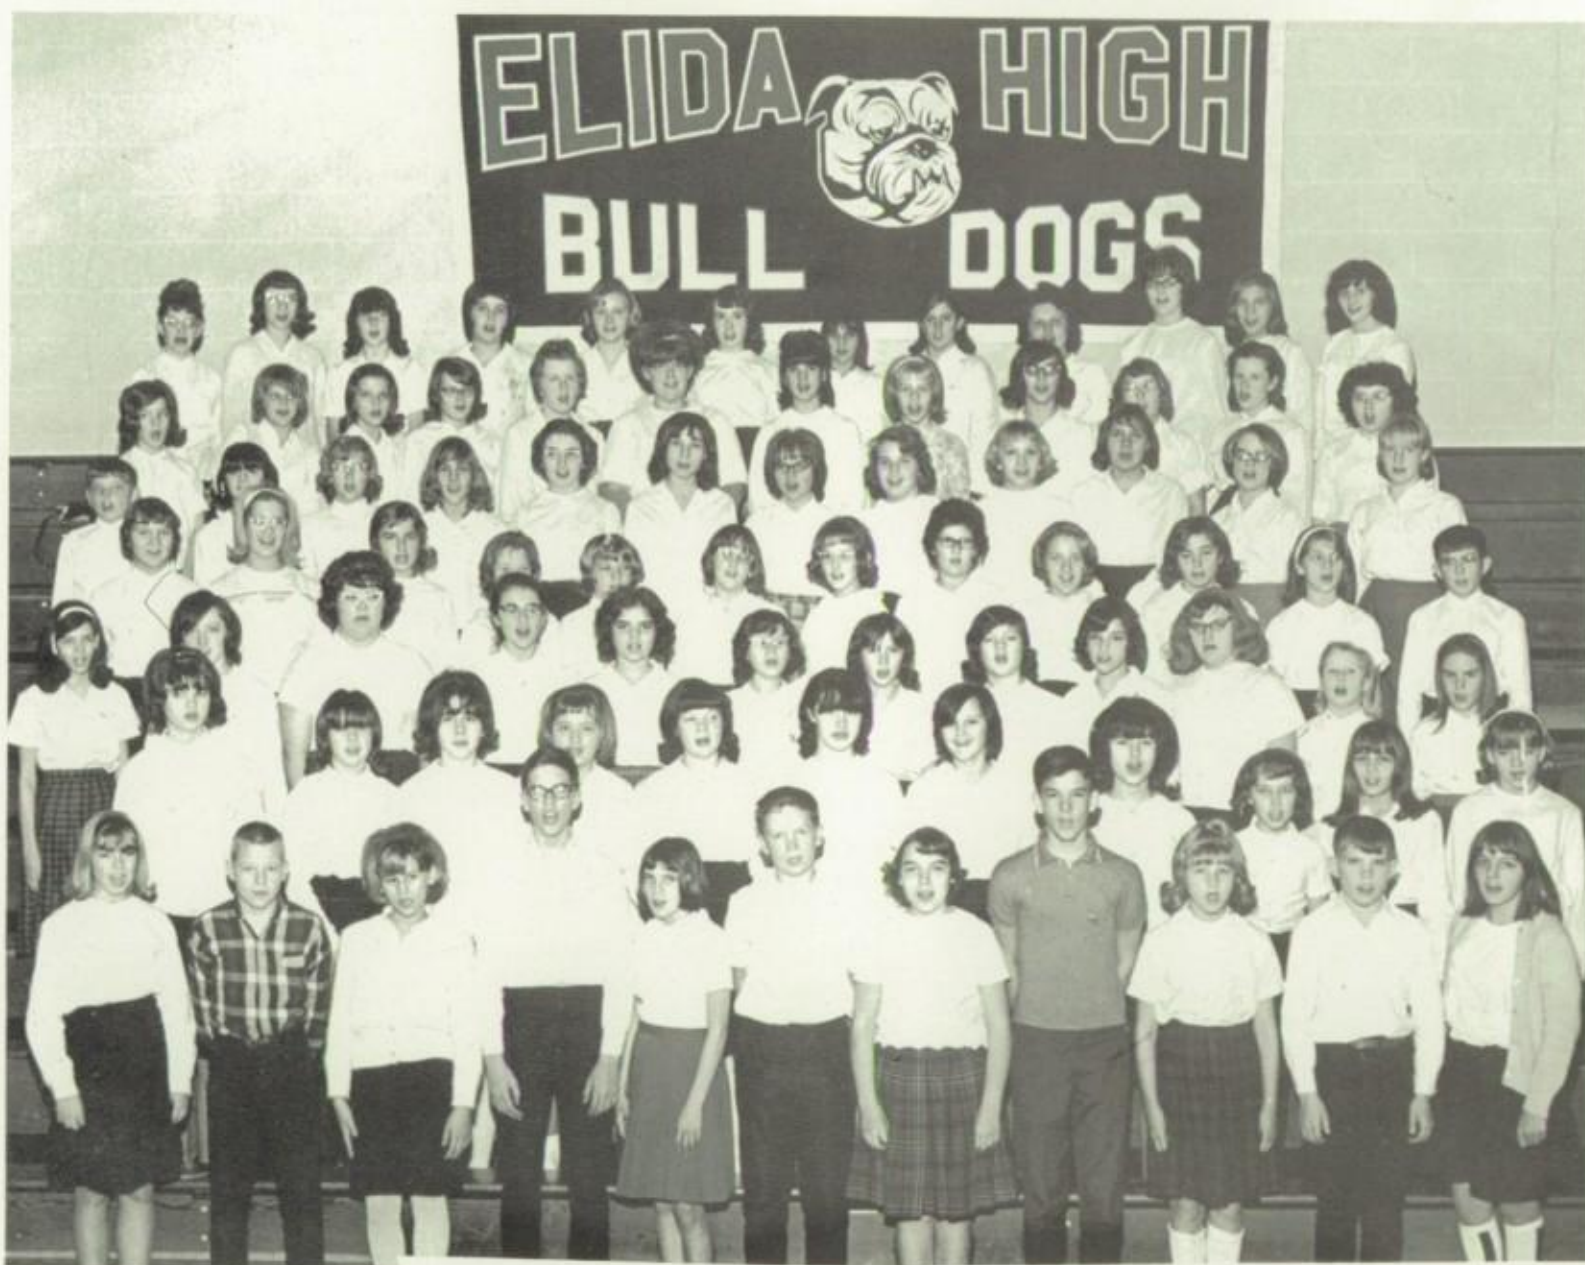

Elida students' participation in music is unlimited. Junior High students are introduced to music through chorus and band. They practice hard for future goals in high school.

Under the direction of Mrs. Gilmore, the young voices are molded together well to form a harmonious chorus. They perform in special programs throughout the year.

The instrumental ability of these youngsters is enhanced by Mr. Wollenhaupt, the director of the Junior Band. Their fine talents have been displayed many times as they have shared in various presentations here at Elida.

Mrs. Gilmore, director of Junior High Chorus, studies music copy for next rehearsal.

Ron Pollitt, 1965 graduated senior, was voted the school's most outstanding Student Council member. Besides serving as Elida's senior high council president, Ron also was elected to the same office for the area student council.

Here is a portion of the mountains of used clothing which were collected by Elida students for distribution to needy Appalachian families, a student council-sponsored project.

Plan Club Room

Craig McCaughey and Rick Wollum man coat check.

"Is there any new business?" There was plenty of new business for the two student councils. With the passage of Elida's bond issue, a club room was made available for student organizations. A drive to provide furnishings for the room was conducted by the Councils and the F.T.A.

One thousand pounds of good used clothing were collected by Elida students for Appalachia's needy.

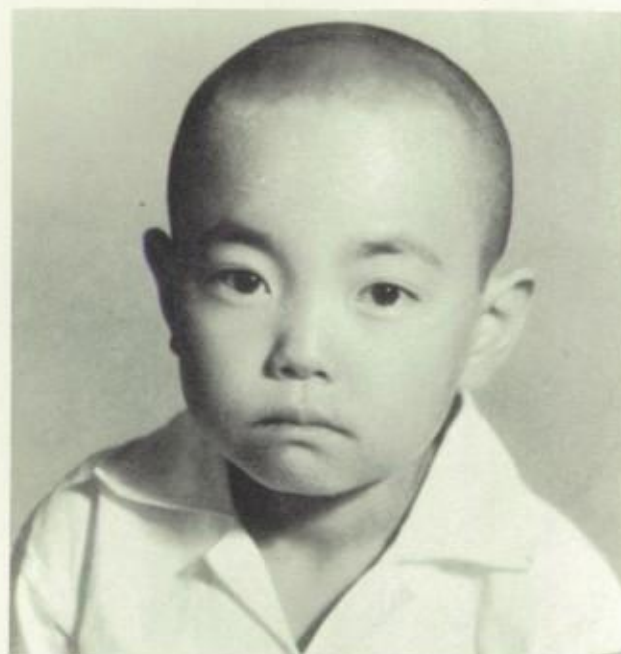

On a cold February Sunday, the Council canvassed the community in behalf of the Heart Fund. 175 dollars were collected.

With the usual tasks of financing scholarship E letters, taking care of homecoming chores, handling the coat check during basketball season, arranging school spirit assemblies, updating the student dress code, handling all school elections and preparing a handbook distributed to one thousand high school students, the junior and senior high councils not only had plenty of new business but many of the old, tough thankless tasks to perform.

Junior high officers include Steve Radulovich, president; Doug Hefner, vice president; Sharon Bailey, secretary; Darlene Brady, parliamentarian and Dave Musser, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Reid Neu is the advisor. Senior high officers are Bob Markwood, president; Nancy Chapman, vice president; Pat Dielman, secretary-treasurer; John Lee, parliamentarian, and Mike Murray, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Paul Sluss is the advisor.

One of our student councils' main projects for several years has been the adoption of an orphan from a foreign country. This year's child is Kim Kyung Yong, a nine year old boy of Korea. Kyung Yong's young life has been filled with sorrow. When Kyung Yong was only a year old, his father was killed. Then his mother, who had tried hard to support her two sons, died of a heart attack. Now he is being supported through student council funds, and reports from Korea indicate he is progressing well.

F.T.A. Tours Ohio State University

Encouragement toward a profession in the field of teaching is one of the many goals of the Elida Future Teachers. This aim is accomplished through interesting and informative films and guest speakers, which introduce to the members the vast, rewarding possibilities offered to teachers today. Visiting college professors and deans advise the Elida students as to the best colleges available, the opportunities and the particular specialized fields offered. Future Teachers of America tour several colleges and universities of special interest to the members each year.

Meeting every third Monday of the month, the organization frequently joins with the neighboring chapters to discuss their similar interests and activities.

Such profitable projects as car washes, cake raffles, dances, and book sales are sponsored by the club as money-making projects.

The Elida Chapter of Future Teachers is recognized for its excellence and has received several state awards and honors. The outstanding accomplishments of the chapter are witnessed by the fact that its advisor, Mrs. Eva Hinegardner, was named secretary of the State Future Teachers of America advisors club.

State Presidency Comes to Elida

F.B.L.A. officers, Marcia Annett, Sue Kiracofe, Cindy Piehl, Kathy Jerew, Barbara Lemke, Karen Hamilton, Janis Lapham discuss plans for State Convention.

Ranking high both State and Nation wide, Elida's Future Business Leaders of America Chapter displays its competitive skill in business leadership. This quality reflects spirit and ability necessary for the highlighting state and national conventions, a yearly ambition of our chapter. Kathy Jerew, state and local president of F.B.L.A., tries hard to retain her honorary title.

Various projects enable the members to exhibit their talent and pride in their chapter. The sale of Christmas cards, sponsoring dances, bake sales, and participating in a variety of contests, are among profitable activities accomplished by the club. The construction of a scale model of the new Lima Mall shopping center was their major project in preparation for state convention.

Fourth Straight A from

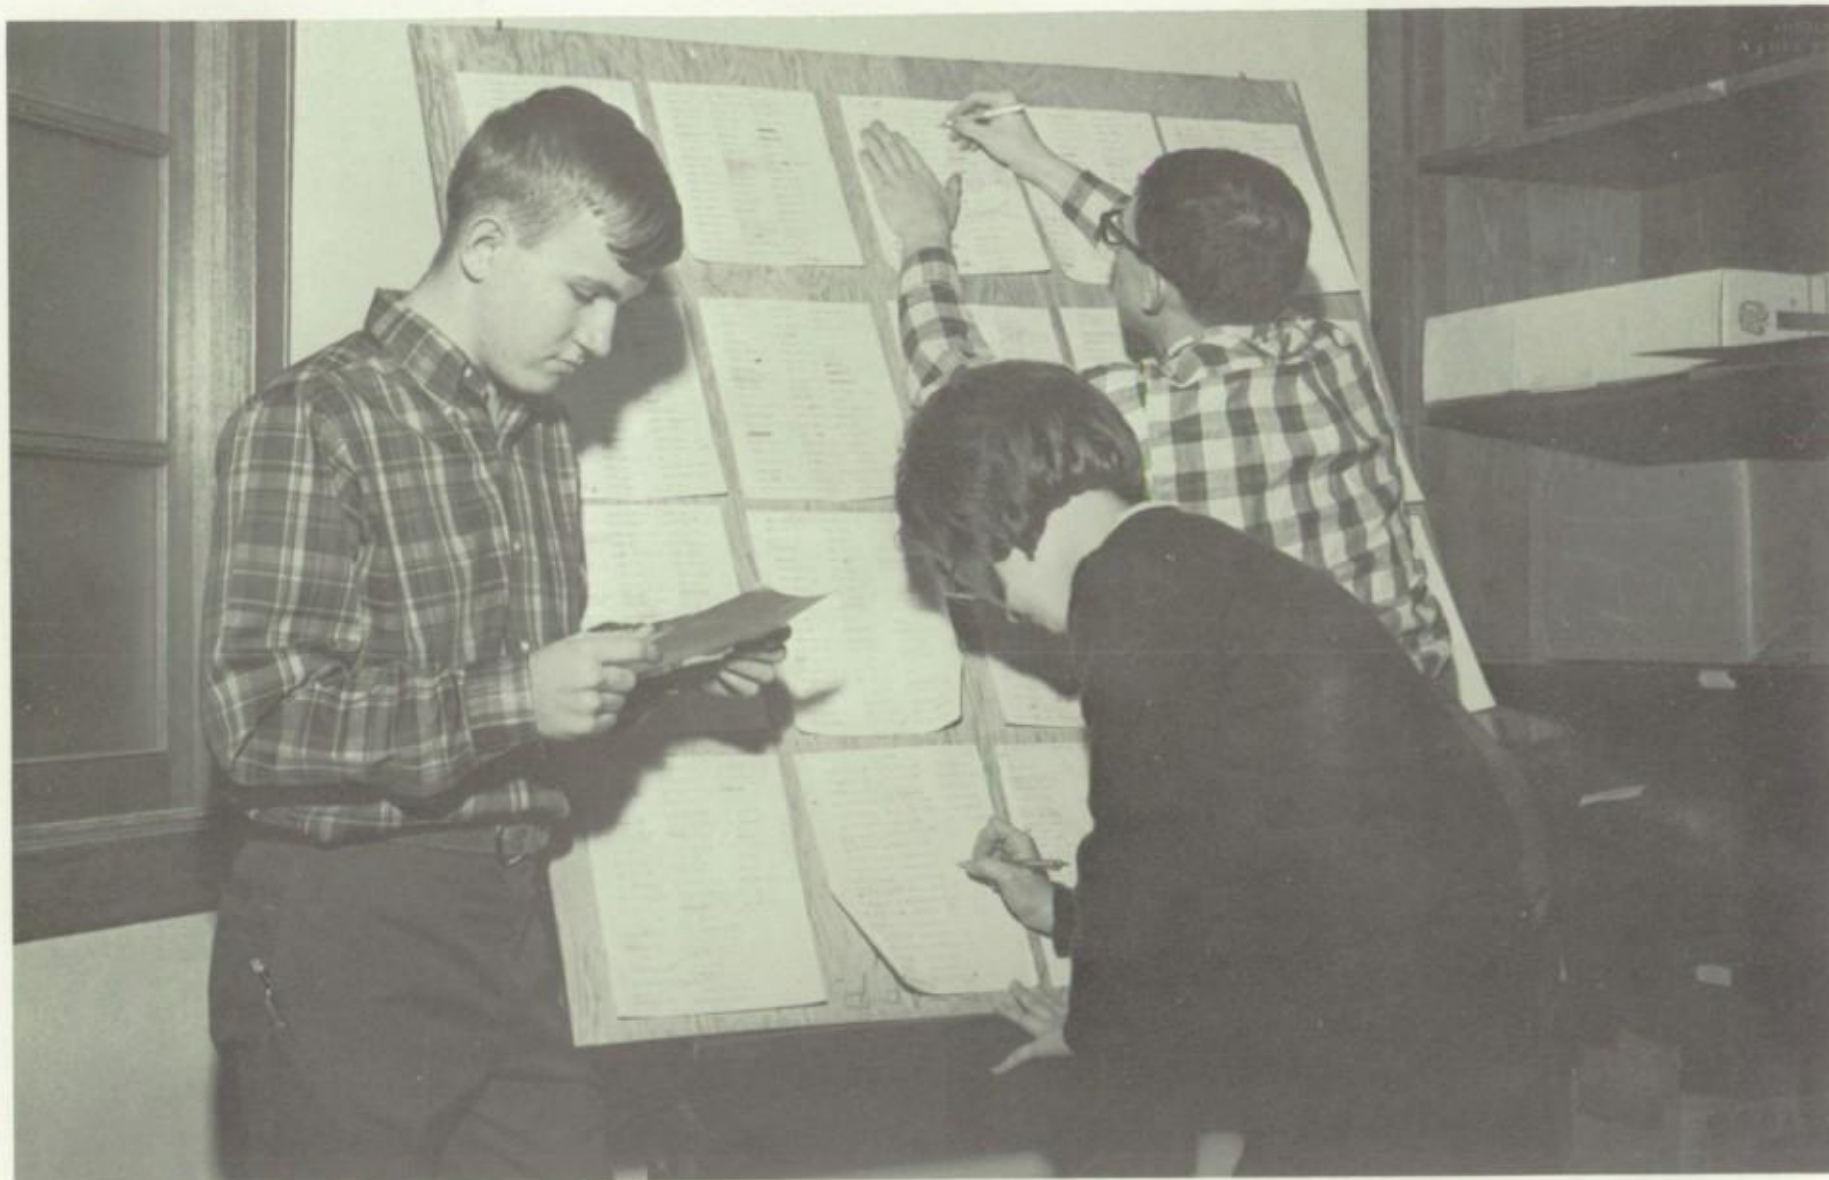

Is producing a 208 page annual a difficult job? Ask any of the members of the annual staff and a resounding, "Yes!" will be the answer you receive. Eighth period every-day, and on five deadline Saturdays, these seniors, along with three juniors and two sophomores, pool their efforts to plan the pictures, layouts, copy, headlines, ads, and cover that will go into the making of another fine Reflector.

Much frustration goes into the undertaking, but out of it emerges the best yearbook in the area. As evidence to back up the claim, the Reflector has received 4 A's in the past four years from the National School Yearbook Association as a result of the tireless effort of every member of the staff and Mr. Sluss, the advisor, who devotes much of his time to guiding the staff.

Despite all the hard work and lost sleep, the staff is immensely proud of itself and the book which it has produced.

Mr. Sluss, annual advisor, and Bob Markwood, editor, discuss a problem that has come up on one of the layouts.

The index is a section that requires much hard, monotonous work. John Beckman, Myrdith King, and Ken Kidd mark the number of pages beside the students' names.

Journalists Attend B.G. Workshop

Constantly striving to improve its paper, the Bulldog Review staff took an afternoon off early in the year to attend a workshop on newspaper editing at Bowling Green. Much of what they learned there was useful in improving their publication this year.

Under the leadership of Mike Murray, the Bulldog Review presented Elida students with much information about events of Elida High. Sports and organizations provided most of the material for the paper.

One of the main attractions of the Bulldog this year was the column "Ross Reviews". Such fine movies and television programs as Help and My Mother, the Car were reviewed in Ross's humorous manner.

Another fine feature of the paper was the editorials. Students were urged to better their school spirit and not to put extra-curricular activities before their studies.

Because it was striving to improve its paper and still keep the price as low as possible, the staff sold study lamps at the beginning of the second semester.

Four school organizations, the Library Help, Office Help, Art Club, and Audio-Visual Aids, are devoted to serving members of the administration and student body.

The girls in library give a period per day to assist the librarians in both libraries. Their duties include processing and shelving books, dusting, checking out magazines, and all other tasks necessary to the smooth running of the library. Office Help girls work in the various offices to help our busy administrators. They make the attendance slips, run errands, answer phones and distribute mail.

The A.V.A. boys prove very helpful to teachers in need of equipment for showing films or playing recordings. They benefit greatly by the experience obtained through the A.V.A.

Homemakers Demonstrate Creativity

Exploring the many phases of homemaking, the Elida Future Homemakers of America prepares its members for a future as wife and mother.

Sponsoring an annual fashion show, the girls are given an opportunity to model fashions they have made as part of their Vocational Home Economics Training. In addition, a Mother-daughter dinner party enables the Future Homemakers to demonstrate their cooking and baking abilities.

The club has received several state awards for establishing an outstanding F.H.A. program. The excellence of its members is demonstrated by Marcia Bauer, who received the 1964-65 Outstanding Senior Award, and Mary Davis, who was elected homemaker of the year.

Y.F.C. Club Gets 5,120 Pounds to Rallies

Every Thursday afternoon, right after school, a person may imagine that he hears music coming from the Junior High music room across from the commercial department. If he ventures to the door he will see a group of approximately thirty students singing lively choruses and having a great time. This group, the Youth for Christ club, meets once a week for a short period of fun and fellowship. Meetings are well planned with everyone taking part, and an occasional film or speaker bring a larger crowd to the meeting.

The local club participates in Limaland Youth for Christ rallies, and this year won the promotional contest by getting the most weight of teenagers to the Saturday night rallies. It also participates in other activities, such as an annual banquet and Christmas caroling. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bailey are sponsors for the group.

F.F.A. Excels in Parliamentary Procedure

The best way to get to go to the state F.F.A. convention is to join Future Farmers of America, an organization for real men! F.F.A. is an organization composed of boys who are taking Vocational Agriculture courses now or who have graduated from a Vo-Ag course in the past three years. Activities include attending state and national conventions and participating in parliamentary procedure, public speaking, and land and stock judging contests. In recent contests, the F.F.A. received the gold bar award in parliamentary procedure and sixth in the country land judging contest. Barnard Stockton placed third on his prepared speech in the Ohio District Speaking Contest.

The purposes of the organization are to develop competent agricultural leadership, to create more interest in agricultural occupations, and to develop character and foster patriotism. Mr. Ropp, the Vo-Ag instructor, is the advisor.

Cheerleaders Work to Boost

Among the many tasks of the Elida cheerleaders is the building and maintaining of school spirit. Varsity, Junior High, and reserve cheerleaders strive for this goal through pep meetings, Block E, and stimulating and varied cheers at the weekly games.

In order to retain their versatility they attend special yearly clinics to learn the latest techniques in cheerleading. Practicing each week helps the girls to perfect the form and liveliness of their routines.

Improving this season's school spirit was the difficult and challenging duty of our hardworking cheerleaders.

"Elida's got a great team," cry varsity cheerleaders, Pat Dielman, Nancy Estes, Nancy Chapman, Janet Stirn, Jane Cheney, before the Spencer-ville game.

Late Season Slump Kills Elida Hopes

After a strong beginning the Elida Bulldogs bogged down in the second half of the 1965 football season. They began by posting five straight victories at the outset of the season, but could only manage a tie while losing three in their last four contests. Although the season was not of championship caliber our team had some outstanding individuals. Among them were Jim Baxter, Dave Miller and Dan Earehart who were named to the Lima News All City Football Team. Also Bill Bowers was chosen as the "Most Valuable Player" on the team by his team mates. This year's fortunes were guided by Art Schrieber, who completed his fifteenth straight year as Elida's head coach, and assistants Dick Prince, Ralph Molder and Mike Bruin.

Bullpups Record Strong Season

A Bullpup ball carrier bulls his way for a gain.

Elida's Junior High football teams have had good success in recent years, under the coaching of Mr. Jim Schafer. This year was no different as the Bullpups posted a record of 3 wins and 1 loss, with the loss coming at the hands of Lima Shawnee, 6 to 0. Elida's victories included an 8 to 0 white-washing of Spencerville, a 20 to 0 shutout of Ottawa Glandorf and a 44 to 0 drubbing of Delphos Jefferson. On the strength of some of our junior high football showings on recent years, our football future looks bright at Elida.

Varsity Posts Disappointing Season

Elida's varsity basketballers, despite boasting Lima-land's leading scorer, Jim Baxter, suffered a losing season, with a record of eight wins and nine losses. Opening the season by winning five of their first seven contests, the varsity showed signs of having another outstanding season. Our fortunes, however, took a sharp decline after a massacre at the hands of the state's number-one-ranked Lima Shawnee Indians, 115-66. From that point on, Elida could manage only three wins while sustaining six losses.

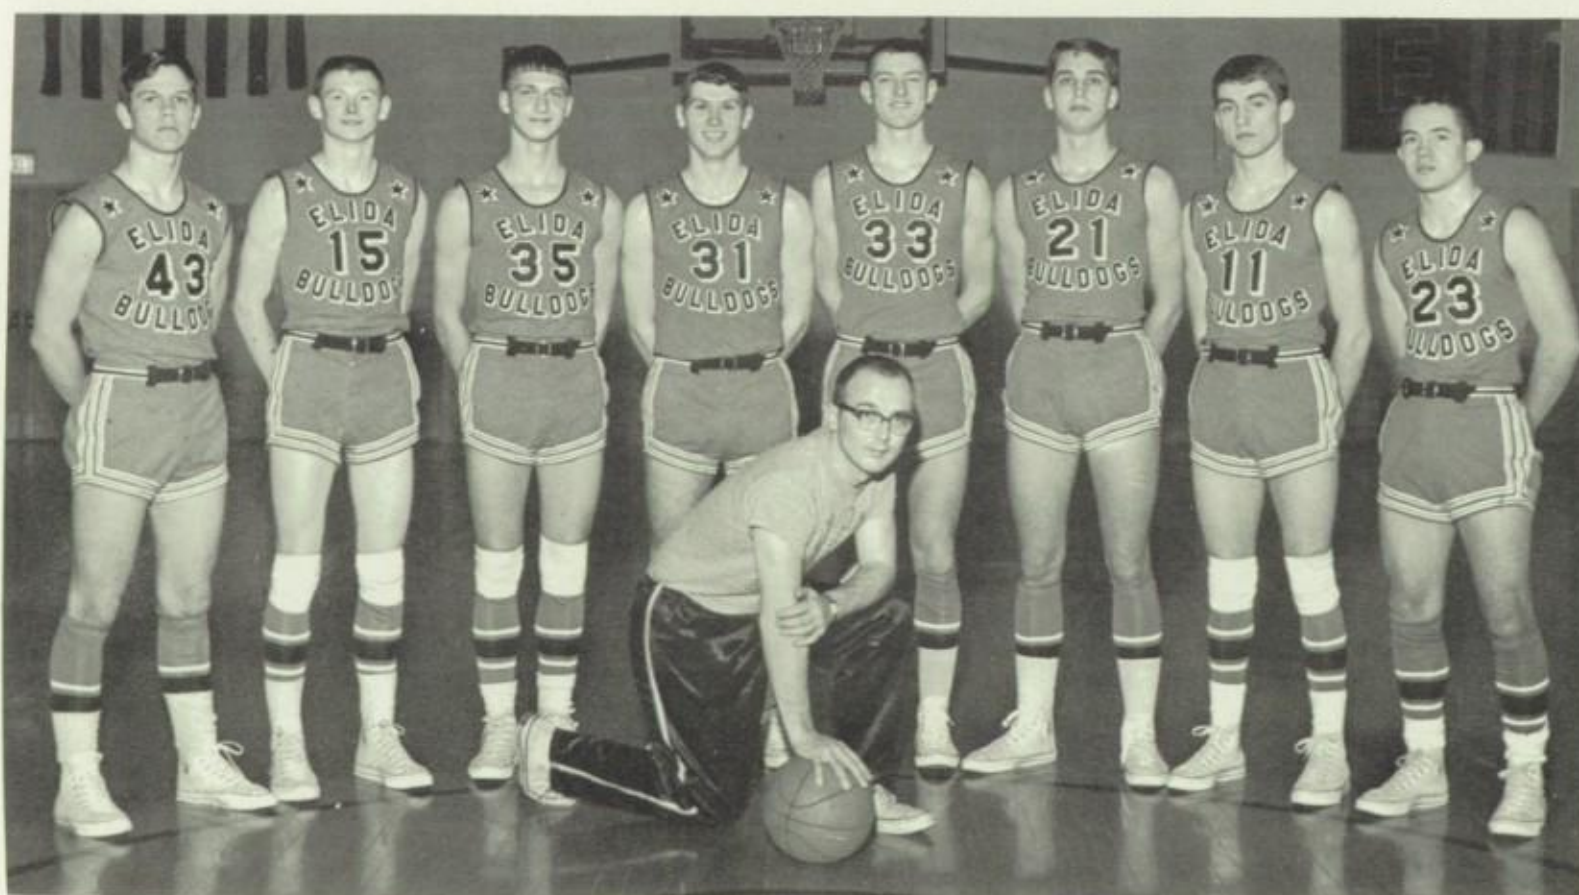

Conditions were not all bleak, however, as Jim Baxter, a sharpshooting guard for the first three years, this year was the number one scorer in the area according to the Lima News, with a 29.8 average. Mr. Dick Baldwin is Elida's varsity coach.

Elida's reserve basketball team was a team of ups and downs as it posted 8-8 season record. Scoring by Denny Musselman, rebounding by Danny Phillips and sharp passing by Bob Barnt were three main reasons why the reserves showed much promise for future varsity work. Coaching was provided by Mr. Mike Bruin.

Frosh Nab League, Tourney Championships

Under the superb coaching of Mr. Dick Prince this years Elida freshmen cagers have again had a very successful season. Mr. Prince has been producing winners since he took over as head coach six years ago. His record for that span is 60 wins and 21 losses. This year was no exception.

"Coachable" was the term Mr. Prince used for the freshman team that posted a season record of 12-5 and a league record of 7-1 enroute to a N. W. C. championship and an Allen County tournament championship. Teamwork, hustle and desire, rather than an individual star made the freshmen the success they were.

Cindermen Finish Sixth in Conference Meet

Track at Elida suffered another losing season this year. With losses to Shawnee, Pandora, Ottawa, Lima Senior High, and Wapakoneta, and only two victories, Cridersville and Lincolnview; the season was not too successful.

In addition, they finished sixth in the conference meet with 13 points, ninth in the Ada Relays with 9 points, and only netted 1 point in the district meet held at Bowling Green.

Despite the lack of glory of the season, it had its better moments, one of which was that Elida track men won their first meet in four years. Head coach Ralph Molder, in his second year, has provided the interest and enthusiasm necessary to start a gradual upswing in the track program here at Elida.

The leading scorers were John Beckman, with 21, Steven Wallace, with 11, and Ken Kidd, with 8.

Golfers Break Even With Season Record

This year's golf team was the best ever produced at Elida. Their record was three wins and three losses, and the performances of some of the team's underclassmen showed promise of a bright golfing future. Of the six boys on the team only one, Gordon Hart, was a senior. Other boys on the team were Ken Kidd and Mike Szekely, both juniors, and John Beckman, Clark Slade, and Steve Wallace, all freshmen. With such a young team, Elida should improve steadily. Coaching was again handled by Mr. George Greenway this year.

Girls Athletics Emphasized in Elida Sports

Girls' athletics are, as many people don't realize, a definite part of the Elida curriculum. Girls' sports are just as beneficial for health to them as are boys sports to boys. Sports in which the girls compete include intramural basketball, bowling, and track. They also compete scholastically in basketball and track.

At press time our basketball team had played three games. Varsity scores found Elida beating Gomer 37-34 and falling victim to Spencerville and Shawnee by scores of 29-15 and 45-16 respectively. Reserve fortunes fared somewhat better as Elida posted victories over Spencerville and Gomer by scores of 15-4 and 34-11 while dropping a hard fought contest to Shawnee 27-22. Other teams scheduled to be played are Wapak, Celina, Perry, and Allen East.

Elida has co-valedictorians. With point average of 1.17 Bill Bowers (upper) and Phil Whalen (lower) demonstrated near infallibility in academics. Salutatorian Larry Augsburger (right) followed closely with a 1.19 average.

FEBRUARY 24, 1966—3:00 P.M. "The Honor Society list is posted on the bulletin board outside Mr. Leis' office." With Mr. Swank's announcement there was a mad scramble to the third floor hall. Of thirty-eight seniors eligible (chosen from the top 25 per cent academically) only 23 could be elected. Honorees were chosen by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, character, service and leadership.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Faces of the visionary: Linda Bok and Jim Cloyd dream of great things. The face of the heckler: Roberta Downhour dares the photographer to take her picture.

Faces of the Big E

Long lunchlines . . . fire bells . . . waiting for Friday to come . . . Flamenco dancers at the lyceum . . . seventh graders beginning a new way of learning . . . running to the buses in three foot of snow . . . playing tackle basketball against Allen East . . . watching the clock in I.Q. tests . . . yelling at pep meetings . . . the magazine drive . . . starting the big term paper the night before it's due . . . ecstasy of the last day of school . . . faces of the Big E . . . the face of our students . . .

You are now finishing a book which took a year in the making, a year of extracurricular work for the students found on pages seventy-four and seventy-five. Our staff was small. We worked in spurts. Our enthusiasm was high in the beginning. It was high in the end. In between it varied. With a variety of social and academic pressures on us, we couldn't maintain fever pitch all the time.

The theme that was decided upon—the face of Elida—was felt to be both natural to a yearbook and fitting to our plans. A yearbook is a collection of faces anyway. Rather than weaken our ideas by an oversimplified theme, we decided on the theme which conveyed just what we wanted to do—give impressions of Elida.

We of the Reflector staff extend our appreciation to the following persons for making possible our preserving of the Face of Elida, 1965-1966: to the faculty and administration for their patience when we disrupted classes for picture taking, to Delmar Publishing Company and our representative, Mr. James Spencer, for a fine publishing job, to Mr. Hoverman for his photographic work, to the Lima News for providing sports pictures, to our advertisers for their help in financing this book, to the student body for cooperation with the magazine drive, and to Mr. Sluss for his valuable guidance and instruction.
